Urge Meters to Control Parking

Merchants, C. of C. Send Recommendation to Council, Point Out Plan Also Will Help to Pay for 3 More Police.

The installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield as a means of parking control was recommended today by the Retail Merchants association and the Chamber of Commerce.

The recommendation, which will go to city council today, requests immediate action.

Adoption of the meter plan of parking was favored last night by the traffic and safety committees of both groups which met to discuss charges of lax enforcement of the city's parking regulations.

In their recommendation, the committees pointed out that they favored the installation of the meters primarily for parking control but explained that the nickel-in-the-slot idea also would produce sufficient revenue for paying for three additional patrolmen in the police department.

Want Meters Put on Trial.

The committees urged that parking meters be installed on a "trial" basis to relieve the "deplorable" state of the parking situation which they contend is caused by persons employed in downtown offices parking their cars on the streets all day.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the chamber told the group that the failure of the police department to enforce the regulations was "due to lack of sufficient patrolmen."

James E. Crum, councilman-at-large and chairman of council's special committee on parking meters, assured the retailers and C. of C. groups that he would submit the recommendation to council at its next meeting.

Crum said he "favored" the plan already endorsed by Mayor Claude M. Hunter.

George Berg, councilman-at-large, and First Ward Councilman Russell D. Porch, the other members of council's special committee, were not present.

Representatives of two parking meter companies attended the session which was presided over by E. M. Olin, chairman of the chamber's traffic safety committee.

Both explained that the average "take" from parking meters now in operation in 125 cities, was 35 cents daily. They pointed out that the installation of 200 machines in Mansfield would net the city, operating on a 40 per cent "take," approximately $11,000 annually. The salaries of three additional patrolmen would amount to about $4,000, it was pointed out.

Members of the committee representing the merchants' association are C M Crafton, Harold Goetz, L. A. Ott, G W. O'Conner, J. W. Cook, C. H. Saylor and Vale Scouten.

The chamber's committee includes E. M. Olin, W. J. Locke, E. A. McFarland, M. J. Stanley, Philip Wappner, C. H. Ferguson, Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, C. E. Copeland, C. C. Blair, Nick Miller, W. C. Fort, F. J. Schuster, Sheriff E. P. Long, G. H. Schrack, W. H. G. Kegg and John T. Shook.

Robert W. Fenton, Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company foreman, who told the group that he had been studying traffic control outlined a plan built around the idea that because of Mansfield's topography, all streets in the business area should be one-way. He also favored one-way parking on certain other streets.

Steel Workers Reap Bountiful Harvest

54 Acres Planted Last Spring to Lick Old Man Depression Turn Out 1,200 Bushels of Potatoes, Host of Other Produce.

Employes of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company plant who did something about the business recession last spring when it robbed many of them of their jobs, are reaping the harvest and their efforts—and a bountiful harvest it is, too.

From 54 acres of gardens, planted and tended by 120 unemployed steel workers, enough vegetables have been harvested to stock the cellars and cut the food bill of scores of Mansfield families.

There's a lot of wholesome food in 1,200 bushels of potatoes, 900 bushels of tomatoes, 240 bushels of beans, 240 bushels of pickles, 1,500 heads of cabbage and 2,400 ears of corn. And that's what the gardeners obtained from the soil during the past season.

Other Crops, Too.

In addition to the fall harvest, large quantities of sweet potatoes, lettuce, radishes, carrots and onions were taken from the gardens during the summer.

Sponsored by Delano lodge, Steel Workers Union, the gardens were the summer project of the steel workers.

Determined not to go on relief when they were laid off as a result of reduced operations at the Auditor Sends Roosevelt Data in Pension Squabble.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Grasping at the hope of presidential intervention in the Ohio-U. S. quarrel that brought denial of federal funds to the state, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson sent "all available data" to President Roosevelt today.

Ferguson talked with Marvin McIntyre, presidential secretary, at Hyde Park late yesterday and was told that "if there is anything Mr. Roosevelt can do, he will do it."

The conversation with McIntyre followed shortly after one between Ferguson and A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the federal social security board, who agreed to recheck Ohio's pension system if Wray Bevens, newly-appointed chief of the division of aid for the aged, requested it.

CHOSEN 'QUEEN'

Esther Mehl of Willard, Elected by Capital University.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Miss Esther Mehl, Willard, O., senior, today was elected "homecoming queen" by Capital university students.

She defeated her roommate, Hilda Cory, Frankfort, O., for the title. The queen will preside at the annual homecoming celebration here Nov. 12 when Capital meets Otterbein college in football.

The queen's court will include Miss Cory and Ruth Ryan, Bucyrus.

Britain Sends Reinforcements in Drive to Seize City Controlled by Arabs.

(By United Press)

JERUSALEM—British troops directed by aircraft laid siege to the old city of Jerusalem today.

Arab rebels were strongly entrenched behind the ancient walls and were in control of the city.

It was the first siege of Jerusalem since Saladin's in the 12th century. Gen. Allenby entered the city in 1917 but did not fire a single shot, being welcomed by the inhabitants as their deliverer from the Turks.

2,000 Troops In Action.

Two thousand British troops were put into action today, reinforced by 4,000 Jewish policemen as airplanes hovered over the densely populated old city, troops used the government offices, the highest building in the new city adjacent to the old city wall, as a watchtower.

The building overlooked the rebel stronghold in the mosque area, which the British appeared determined not to desecrate by shooting or by occupation.

Rebels made openings through the wall surrounding the mosque but authorities brought cement and closed them.

'BRING 'EM IN'

That's Police Chief's Order on Halloween Pranksters.

Mansfield police today were preparing to clamp down on youthful Halloweeners who have been victimizing residents with their practical jokes.

An order instructing officers to "bring in" all Halloweeners who have damaged property was posted today by Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

The chief said that several reports of the destruction of property and petty thievery had come to his attention in the past week and that it was "time to call a halt."

He warned that persons found destroying property would be prosecuted.

"Mansfield has provided for entertainment on Halloween with a downtown celebration in which everyone can take part and there is no need for such practical jokes as have been reported in the past week," he said.

$150,000 Love Piracy Suit Adds To Woes of Singer Ruth Etting

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES — Ruth Etting never sang a song so full of woe as this day held for her.

To add to the troubles of the radio songbird, after her first husband shot her second mate, the latter's second wife sued flaxen haired Ruth for $150,000 love theft damages.

Mrs. Alma Alderman, willowy blond, charged that Myrl Alderman, Miss Etting's one-time piano player, has been living with her as husband and wife "under a pretended marriage."

It was pretended, the plaintiff alleged, because her own divorce from Alderman does not become final until Dec. 2.

An explanation was not immediately forthcoming from Miss Etting, who said after Alderman was wounded in her home last Saturday night, that they were married in Tijuana, Mex., last July 15.

Told police investigators could find no record of the ceremony, the singer said: "there are some things a woman has a right to keep secret."

Meanwhile, Martin (Moe) Snyder, known to fellow Broadway habitues as "Colonel Gimp," limped out of jail on $10,000 bail, to face on Oct. 31, a preliminary hearing of charges that he attempted to kidnap and murder Alderman. Silver-voiced Ruth promptly asked for a police guard.

Snyder said it was "common Hollywood gossip" that Alderman broke up his home, causing Miss Etting to divorce him in Chicago last November after 17 years of

Principals On Trial For Exposing U. S. Army Secrets

A real-life tale of international intrigue more thrilling than any motion picture was being pieced together in federal court in New York City today with a pretty red-haired woman and two men on trial charged with selling military secrets to a foreign power. Here are principals in the spy drama and the parts they play: Johanna Hofmann, 26, former beauty shop attendant on the North German Lloyd liner Europa, accused by federal agents of acting as message bearer of the spy ring; her fellow defendants, Otto Herman Voss, 36, German-born airplane mechanic, and Erich Glaser, private in the U. S. army air corps at Mitchell Field. Others playing important parts are Guenther Rumrich, 32, former U. S. army sergeant, who unexpectedly pleaded guilty to espionage charges and is testifying for the federal government, and Federal Judge John C. Knox who is hearing the case. Another figure in the case, but one who is not likely to appear at the trial, is Dr. Ignatz Griebl, former head of the Nazi Friends of New Germany and a former reserve officer in the U. S. army medical corps, who fled to Germany while under bail after he had "spilled" the story of the conspiracy to federal agents.

TOWNSEND OR G. O. P. RALLY?

That's Question as Pension Plan Advocates Announce Session Here Thursday.

There will be a political rally in Republican headquarters Thursday night—but there was some question as to whether it would be a Townsend rally or a Republican one.

It was announced by Archie May, who is handling Townsend publicity in the campaign. May said it would be a Republican rally but that Townsend advocates would be the principal speakers.

Ralph Hardy, G. O. P. executive committee, wasn't quite sure what it was—Townsend or Republican.

"We have given our permission for use of the hall for the meeting," Hardy said after some hesitation, "but the Republican organization isn't sponsoring it."

Commenting Hardy's statement, May later said: "well, you can call it what you want to. We want to keep harmony if we can."

Republicans and Townsend backers have been closely allied in the campaign in Richland county and the 17th congressional dis-

LINER DOCKS ON OWN POWER

Queen Mary Put In Port Despite Tugboat Strike.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Queen Mary, largest British ship afloat, docked under her own power today because of the tugboat strike.

The berthing was completed in 34 minutes from the time she arrived off the end of her pier.

The liner brought 1,601 passengers and $25,000,000 in gold from Europe.

One line snapped as the ship began use of her winches to bring her to the side of the pier but four others were put out and the propellers started. The Queen Mary drifted 75 feet before she was brought about.

City Basks in Summer Heat As Snow Covers Northwest

Cooler Weather Due to Follow Rain Tonight; Mercury Hits 85 Here; 2-Foot Snow Takes 3 Lives.

While Mansfielders basked in mid-summer temperatures today, the weatherman played strange pranks in the northwest where a storm left parts of three states blanketed with more than two feet of snow and claimed at least three lives.

Forecasters viewed the "heat wave" as summer's last fling and predicted cooler weather would follow rain tonight and Thursday.

Mansfield, with a reading of 85 degrees yesterday, was one of the warmest spots in the nation, and a reading of 80 at noon today indicated a new heat record for Oct. 18 might be set.

It was 90 yesterday in Philadelphia and New York had 87 degrees for the warmest Oct. 17 on record.

Centering in Wyoming, the northwest storm was responsible for the death of three persons in an automobile accident on a slippery highway, while a number of hunters were reported lost in the mountains or marooned in isolated cabins by the heavy snow.

John C. Fisher, Ohio state meterologist, predicted the heat today would set a new record for this date in Ohio but added that the balmy weather should not be mistaken for Indian summer.

"Although Indian summer is just a popular conception," Fisher said, "it does not come until after cold weather and we have had no real cold weather so far this fall."

HEARING ENDS

Ruling on NLRB in Ideal Case Not Expected for Month.

After a session which lasted more than two weeks, the National Labor Relations board last night completed its hearing of charges of unfair labor practices against the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company, and Examiner Webster Powell who heard the case prepared today to submit his report to the board at Washington for a decision.

It will be at least a month, and perhaps two months, before the final decision will be handed down, and in the meantime the Ideal company and the complaining CIO union will be permitted to file exceptions in the case, Powell said.

Nearly half of the employes of the Ideal plant appeared before Powell as witnesses while counsel for the NLRB and the Mansfield firm argued the question of whether plant workers were discriminated against because of their union activities.

Woman Prefers Conduct Charge, Says He Threatened Her.

Arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of disorderly conduct for the second time in as many days, Dr. Wayne E. Young, 27 East Second street, was convicted and fined $1 and costs.

Yesterday the physician pleaded guilty to a similar charge lodged by Mrs. Alice Flaharty, 120 North Mulberry street, and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Mrs. Flaharty testified that Young came to her home last night and threatened her for filing the charges against him yesterday after he had caused a disturbance at her home. She said he entered the house with his own key and threatened to throw a chair through the window.

TELL STORY OF TRAIN SLAYING

Shelby Youth and Companion Calmly Recount How They Killed Chicagoan.

From separate cells in the Kearney, Neb., jail, a Shelby youth and his 14-year-old companion today recounted with little show of emotion, the beating, shooting and mutilation of Edward J. Billings, Chicago transient, aboard a freight train last Friday.

The Shelby youth, Donald Gallaway, 21, and Gary Ames, of Wilmington, Mass., were held on their confession that they killed the man for $1.26.

Young, blond haired Ames, who graduated from high school last June, from his cell today, according to Press dispatches, spun fanciful tales to detectives to embroider his admission that "in a rage" he mutilated the body of Billings after finding only $1.26 in his pockets after Gallaway had shot the man.

Ames, termed by his former school teacher as a "kind and sympathetic boy" when he graduated from Wilmington Junior high school was believed by authorities to have suffered a reversal of character from the reading of crime fiction.

This belief was strengthened, dispatches said, after they had X-rayed Gallaway's stomach to check Ames' story that Gallaway had swallowed a small .22 caliber pistol. The x-rays showed no gun and Ames admited that he had gotten the idea from a detective yarn.

The pair was arrested the day after Billings' body was found.

Police Ball Attracts Greatest Crowd In Coliseum's History

If Mansfield police were off their stride today it was because they were a little foot sore and weary—and it wasn't from pounding their beats.

It was the fifth annual police ball held at the Coliseum last night that was responsible and all but a few of the officers with their wives attended.

They were joined by several thousand Mansfielders, and while estimates on the crowd ranged from 3,000 to 5,000 persons, everyone admitted that it was the largest crowd ever to pack the huge hall.

"The greatest ball in history," was the verdict after the last strains of Ace Brigode's music had died away long after midnight.

The dancing began at 9 p. m. with Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Mrs. Bates leading the grand march and followed by other members of the department and their wives.

During the evening the city was policed by state highway patrolmen, deputy sheriffs and the few Mansfield officers who did not attend the ball.

Today Bates said that because of the response of the public to the event, additional equipment could be provided for the department, including the annual supply of ammunition for target practice and equipment for the police identification bureau.

The annual ball sponsored by the Police Recreation club was in charge of a committee consisting of Chief Bates and Patrolmen Paul Martin, O. D. Fair, John Gilbert and Gordon Drury.

Names of Army Officers Given Nazis for $40, He Testifies in Espionage Case.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The name of Fritz von Wiedemann, personal representative of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, was brought into the sensation-studded espionage trial today by Guenther Gustav Rumrich, former U. S. Army sergeant who has pleaded guilty to a spy indictment and is the star government witness at the trial of three former fellow-defendants.

Rumrich, who previously had linked the German war ministry to the case, declared that during a visit by a mysterious "Mr. Wiegand," the latter confided he had "just come from Washington where he talked with Fritz von Wiedemann."

'Right Hand Man.'

(Editor's note: Foreign chancelleries know Wiedemann as Hitler's "right hand man." Wiedemann was the chancellor's top-sergeant during the World war and their friendship endured after its conclusion. It was Wiedemann who visited London and served upon Prime Minister Chamberlain the reichsfuehrer's initial demands regarding Czechoslovakia.)

Rumrich emphasized and re-emphasized his testimony concerning the German war ministry under the persuasiveness of government counsel.

Tells of Letters.

Rumrich declared that his immediate and mysterious superior, a shadowy "Sanders" who communicated with him by mail, wrote him that Rumrich's demand for assurance of financial support would have to be taken up with the German war ministry.

This disclosure was the highlight of the morning trial session. In addition to Miss Johanna Hofmann, the government is seeking convictions against Erich Glaser, a former U. S. army private, and Otto Herman Voss, skilled airplane draftsman.

Glaser and Voss were sober, sol-

Catholics in New Orleans to Get Message From Pope.

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— Thousands of Catholic clergy and laity of the United States and abroad awaited today an outdoor solemn high pontifical mass with George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, papal legate, as celebrant, to mark formal opening of the eighth national eucharistic congress.

Pope Pius XI, speaking from the Vatican by short wave radio and the domestic chains arranged to bestow the apostolic blessing.

Cardinal Mundelein arrived yesterday by train, participated in impressive ceremonies attended by thousands of worshipers, and was accorded a great religious and civic reception last night.

James A. Farley, postmaster general, read to the congress the greetings of President Roosevelt to Archbishop John Francis Rummel of New Orleans.

Only One Pupil of 6,400 In City Not Vaccinated

Only one pupil of the more than 6,400 in Mansfield public schools has not been vaccinated against smallpox or has failed to show a satisfactory report of immunity against the disease, Supt. W. L. Miller told the board of education last night.

In the lone case, which involves a second grade pupil at Bushnell school, the parents will be prosecuted for contributing to the delinquency of the child unless they have her vaccinated or send her to another school immediately, Miller said.

"We can't do anything with parents for refusing to have their children vaccinated, but they must send their children to school or face delinquency charges," the superintendent asserted.

He pointed out that a number of parents who opposed the school board's compulsory vaccination ruling had placed their children in parochial or private schools to avoid vaccination.

STEADY INCOME BIG FACTOR IN SOUND LENDING

Cash Reserve Regarded as Secondary Under Modern Mortgage Practices.

Growing acceptance by lenders of the long-term home mortgage, with monthly amortization payments, has made probable income, rather than cash reserve, the determining factor in attaining home ownership, Federal Housing Administration officials say.

There has been a definite evolution in home-ownership methods since the turn of the century, which was greatly accelerated by the enactment of the National Housing Act, FHA officials point out. As recently as 25 or 30 years ago prudent families wanting to own homes of their own deferred purchases until they had saved sufficient to make a large down payment or even the entire amount of the purchase price. As a result, home ownership by persons of small incomes was unusual.

One-Third Needed.

Ten years ago down payments on houses often amounted to one-third of the purchase price. The deferred payments mounted so steeply and commanded such high rates of interest as to make home buying dubious for persons whose entire savings were needed for the down payment.

Many people who would now be considered good risks never enjoyed the security, comfort, and pleasure of their own homes and remained renters throughout their lifetime

Today many persons who are fitted by temperament, stability, and income to own houses of their own still believe ownership is difficult.

Perhaps the best way to decide whether or not to buy or build a home, and whether one's resources are sufficient, is to consult a local private lending agency cooperating with the Federal Housing Administration's insured mortgage program. There are 7,000 such units in every part of the country They include banks, trust companies, personal finance companies, mortgage companies, building and loan asociations, installment lending companies, and other financial institutions qualified to offer advce They have information to guide the potential home owner in his venture or to discourage him if he is not fitted for it.

In addition to the information which these institutions possess on local conditions, the National Housing act, as administered by the Federal Housing Administration, provides guides and control factors. These provisions give the home buyer a clear picture as to what obligations he is expected to liquidate; deter him if he lacks the ability to repay the indebtedness, group into a single monthly payment all charges, including principal reduction, interest, mortgage-insurance premium, taxes, and hazard insurance, and give the home buyer added assistance and protection through proper construction and property standards.

OLDEST DYE

The oldest known European dye was made from the herbaceous plant, Reseda luteola, commonly called "Weld" The name weld probably came from the old German word Walda from which the French word Gaude was derived—the source of our own word "gaudy." To produce the popular gaude green of that day, the material to be dyed was first dipped in indigo and then in weld.

Kansas' 1,551 towns will spend approximately $5,000,000 for operating their governments next year.

8-Room Dutch Colonial with Sunroom

(By Central Press)

Eight rooms, including a pleasant sunroom, are planned for this comfortable-looking house built of wood in Dutch colonial style of architecture.

Homes of this type will be as worthy of pride a generation from now as they are today

All the rooms are large, and are fully equipped for modern requirements.

Besides the sunroom, the lower floor plan includes the large living room with brick fireplace, a library or den—which is one of the nicest things about this house, as it will serve many uses—dining room, kitchen, and even a dining nook between dining room and kitchen

On the second floor are three bedrooms, bath and ample closet space

The size of the main building of this house is 26 feet by 27 feet six inches; size over all, 35 feet by 32 feet six inches. The total cubage is 21,900 cubic feet.

DORMER WINDOWS IMPORTANT FOR VENTILATION OF ATTICS

The attic is obviously the easiest and most economical place in which to add bedrooms or playrooms. With such an addition one changes a five-room house to a six- or seven-room house without adding a wing or becoming involved in serious structural changes.

Adequate ventilation and light for these rooms can be provided by adding dormers and good-sized windows in the gable. The size and design of the house will more or less determine the type of dormer to be used. They may be set back on the roof or be set flush with the face of the house wall, as is often the case with brick or stone-faced dormers. It is imperative, however, that they be carefully proportioned and designed in harmony with the style of the house, for over-sized or ugly dormers may easily ruin its appearance.

If possible, add dormers both front and rear so that there will be through cross-ventilation.

Basement Room Has Many Uses In Modern Home

The basement of a home is receiving more attention now than ever before In years past it was only a place for waste materials and broken furniture, with the furnace providing virtually the only reason for its existence.

Today the basement is becoming one of the most popular rooms in a home, due to alterations which amount to the addition of a room. A "rumpus room" for the children, an entertainment center for the young folks, or a recreational place for the entire family are now feasible in the basement through the judicious use of modernization.

Funds with which to convert virtually useless basements into pleasure-producing rooms may be procured from private financial institutions qualified by the Federal Housing administration under its property improvement credit plan. improvement plan will finance such an undertaking and allow you to repay their loan with monthly installments from your salary There are all manner of durable roof coatings on the market from the bituminous type to shingle stains.

ROOF IT NOW

Perhaps you need a new roof on your house. If so, now is the time to attend to it before the winter storms begin. These days it is not necessary to have ready cash to cover the cost. The federal housing administration property

MAROON, WHITE

For an English half-timbered house, maroon and white has been employed with particularly attractive results. The body of the house is painted in white; all trim, including shutters and doors, is painted maroon and the shingle roof is stained to match.

HOMES MUST BE BUILT SOUNDLY

A home for the years must stand up under hard weather and hard use.

Foundations, floors, roofs, walls, and ceilings must meet the test of time and wear.

The federal housing administration recommends adequate contract documents for the protection of the home buyer. FHA compliance inspection and valuation service check on the soundness of construction of homes offered as security for mortgages insured by the federal housing administration.

Winter Building Not Considered Unsafe Practice

A number of building "bogies" have been put to rout permanently by advances in construction methods and introduction of new materials developed in recent years. Among them is the idea that it is unwise to build in the late Autumn or Winter.

Records of the Federal Housing administration's activities show that many new residences were started during the Fall and Winter.

Actually the reasons that Autumn building has been unpopular in the past were that dwellings built for sale or rent came on the market at a time when all renters were under lease and when prospective purchasers had to be shown properties under adverse weather conditions

There is some advantage in starting construction in the Fall or in early Winter. Contractors are usually looking for work that will enable them to keep their organizations intact during the dull period; the trades are anxious to keep busy. Material dealers are eager for orders to keep their staffs busy and to pay overhead on their establishments and organizations. These groups are usually willing to make some concessions in order to get business.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 22.

But her heart quivered whenever there were steps at the door of the room, and her eyes swept the entrance hopefully. Guests were drifting away to dress for dinner when Ronald and Abbey came. They made their apologies. Ronald's eyes were warm and friendly, and he paused by Judy's side.

Abbey moved among the people, sweet and gay and lovely, the petulant lines of her face relaxed and erased.

"She's happy because she has been with Roland," Judy perceived. "She is falling in love with him. But she wants to marry a count. She thinks she can have both—love and a title And Ronald doesn't understand. But the count does. His eyes aren't missing anything. He won't care though. He just wants the Boland money, so he can slide from polo ponies and write books that nobody reads."

Judy felt tired She wanted to get away

When the count came back to the table, with an empty cup as an excuse for his presence, she took it silently. He spoke in a low tone:

"Don't be afraid. Your red-headed hero is being kind, that's all."

"He isn't my red-headed hero and I don't care what he's being. I should think that would be your worry. It's your girl he was with"

"Oh, you don't know Abbey She flutters hither and yon. But she comes back."

* * *

Then the titled guest strolled to another section of the book shelves. Judy caught her breath. He didn't know that imitation volumes were on the racks. Such a public humiliation as he might inflict, unconsciously, on the Bolands would be hard to forgive She waited, eyes on the long nervous fingers that reached for a volume.

The count took it from its shelf, turned it over, looked up, with puzzled eyes. The room was still. He said nothing, but began to put it back Abbey spoke quickly

"Oh, how stupid of me not to have warned you. We are having most of our books rebound and the bindery sent some dummies until they come back next week."

"I mustn't forget to check on that order for you," Ronald said clearly in the ensuing silence "It's my fault—I overlooked it."

There had been no order, Judy knew So Ronald was so enamored he would play at pretenses to save the glittering-haired girl—to save her for another man!

How desperately much Abbey wished to hold on to her count came to Judy's immediate attention Tuesday morning All day Monday Judy had been busy with her work, while Abbey and Count Phillippe went into the city Tuesday morning Abbey came into her room.

"Miss Rogers, something has happened to our books. The binder is delaying So we want the empty shelves—the ones with phoney volumes—refilled Can you catch a train into the city and place an order? Oh, yes, you'll have to see how many things we need The butler will attend to that"

If Abbey would go to such lengths to retain the count's respect, why would she play with his affections by devoting herself to Ronald? Judy asked herself the question decided it was none of her business, and prepared for the trip into the city She ordered the books, gasped at the size of the bill—a bill which would have seemed relatively small to Judy four months before—did a little shopping, and went to the Long Island section of the Pennsylvania railroad to catch her train.

She was walking down the long approach, having descended the steps from the main station, when she saw a familiar figure ahead of her. She had not known that Count Phillippe was in the city, too At first she did not think the tall women going down the same promenade was with him. Then the woman smiled up, into the lean, dark face, and he looked down at her, gravely but with dancing lights in the provocative eyes.

* * *

Judy turned and went out of her way so they need not meet After all, Count Phillippe knew any number of charming women all over the world, of course. She went into a car, found a seat, and tried to hide behind a newspaper. One eye, though, watched the commuters. When she saw Count Phillippe coming, she pulled the paper higher and became immersed in black words that meant nothing.

The paper was removed from her hands. The count slipped into the seat at her side.

"May I?" he asked "I'm sure it will be much more instructive as well as entertaining, to talk to me. I trust you have arranged for a readable library?"

Judy spoke slowly. "I think you are perfectly horrible! Mr Boland shouldn't settle one good American dollar on you. We have rules over here about not smiling at our hosts' idiosyncrasies. And when we are accepting—I mean, when we are recipients . . ."

"Go ahead, finish the sentence. When we are recipients of their charity, we should guard our tongues."

"All right, that's what we are, both of us."

"In other words you don't approve of marrying for money? But you don't think love's a worthy basis, either. What do you think, Miss Rogers?"

"I don't think."

After all, he and Abbey were following an accepted pattern. He would have his money. She would have her title. If the marriage grew irksome, it could be ended. That was what people thought. Her mother and father. Marjorie's mother and father, her aunt, the parents of other schoolmates—

"You saw me in the station," the irresponsible count went on. "I had a glimpse of you. You hurried down another way so you wouldn't have to witness my ambulations with Mrs. Martin Bedford. You are a model secretary, well brought up."

Mrs. Martin Bedford was a widow whose husband had left her a great deal of money. Judy knew her slightly. She wondered, with amusement, if she, too, had succumbed to the foreign charmer's wiles.

Outside the train ran through small villages where station wagons, or wives in family cars, greeted their husbands or guests. Not many guests tonight, mostly husbands. The week-end was ended. A working week was in progress. Judy turned to the window and wondered if among some of them they had found that priceless gift called security—if there were women who believed that marriage would endure through the years, just as the Rock of Gibraltar guarded the water road to Spain and the Plymouth Rock was as solid as it had been when the Pilgrims first knelt to pray. She had had ancestors among that group — strong men and gentle women. Marriage had not been a toy in their hands. It was a warp from which the fabric of a nation had been woven. Where had their children lost the way?

* * *

She thought of Ronald Birrell. His eyes were brave and tender. His mouth was strong. His will was clean and sharp as a sword.

She wondered from whence his ancestors had come to those remote mountain districts. Sometime she must ask him. Strange that she identified herself with him, though their paths had traveled so many miles apart until recently. He was not the type of man for Abbey to use as a member of her train He was sincere. If he loved her, it would be with a whole heart, not just half. But how could he love Abbey?

Men were dumb, so bitterly, ridiculously dumb! Why hadn't Craig taken her "no" for "yes" last summer—down in her heart it had been an affirmative word—tossed her into his car, and headed for Greenwich? He had done it with another girl. That line of reasoning was no good. Craig had loved that other girl, and she, Judy Rogers, had been a comfortable habit

The conductor called their station. Judy was glad that only the chauffeur met them. She did not want to see Abbey. She was glad that her dinner was served on a tray in her room again. She found herself wishing that it would always be that way.

Compromise Looms on Proposed Railroad Pay Slash

JUSTICE GIVES HINT ON RAIL HEARING VIEWS

'Time Coming for Labor to Receive Greater Share of Profits,' He Declares.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Persons close to President Roosevelt's fact-finding board predicted today it would recommend a compromise adjustment of the proposed 15 per cent rail wage cut.

The board, appointed by the president in an effort to avert a threatened strike in the railroad industry, began work on a report which it must complete by Oct. 27.

Board Chairman Walter P. Stacy chief justice of the North Carolina supreme court, closed three weeks of hearings yesterday with a statement in which he compared the wage dispute to the price which producers receive for eggs.

'Sick' Must Be Helped.

It is well, he said, for the producer to obtain the highest possible price for his eggs, but if his chickens become sick, he is forced to devote some of his efforts to helping the chickens regain their health.

Some hearers inferred that Judge Stacy was comparing the price of eggs to the price of rail labor and the sick chickens with railroads in financial straits.

"The time has come in this country," Judge Stacy also said, "when the man who earns his daily bread by the muscle of his arms or by the cunning of his hands deserves a larger share in the profits of his toil. But what is said of profits is not true of deficits. The two are not the same."

The railroads contended in closing arguments that the 15 per cent wage reduction was necessary if the industry was to survive.

Charles M. Hay, representing the 18 Brotherhoods who have voted to strike Dec. 1 rather than accept the pay cut, argued that a railroad reduction would pull the whole economic structure down with it and would prove "suicidal" for the carriers.

Sally's Law Suits Outnumber Plumes In Fan She Uses

HOLLYWOOD — (U.P.) — Sally Rand's court trials outnumbered her dance fans today.

Her familiar pose pictures two sprays of ostrich plumes. But after tearfully stepping around a judge's wrath over her failure to appear in criminal court on time, Miss Rand faces:

1. A hearing on Oct. 31 for scratching, biting and otherwise disfiguring Miss Hazel Drain and her escort, Ray Stanford, at a theater here.

2. Civil action in which Miss Drain and Stanford accuse Miss Rand of ruining $2,622.70 worth of suspenders, cameras and dignity.

3. A $365,000 suit filed by Miss Faith Bacon, once advertised on Broadway as "the most beautiful girl in the world."

Both civil suits remain to be set for trial. Miss Bacon charges that Miss Rand stole from her the fan dance idea and "made a beautiful terpischorean exhibition look like an animated French postcard."

JUNIOR CHURCH PARTY PLANNED

Halloween Event Set for Tomorrow by U. B. Young People.

The Junior church of the First United Brethren church will sponsor a Halloween party for all children of the Sunday school at 7 p. m. Wednesday in the church parlors.

Refreshments will be served and a program of games has been planned for the children. Officers of the Junior church for the coming year will be elected.

Mrs. James L. Boyer, junior church superintendent, is in charge of arrangements for the affair. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Harold Bracey and Mrs. Victor Hawk.

Elect Independent-Minded, Hoover's Plea

Up and Down THE STREET

A loyal Rotarian who attends meetings wherever he is, Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools had a little trouble finding a session the other day in Chicago where he was attending a convention. Miller left his hotel and went several blocks to another only to be told the Rotary club met at a hotel in another part of the city. He went there and was directed back to the hotel where he was staying. There is found the Rotary club in session only a few feet from his room. "But I learned how to get around in Chicago," Miller said.

* * *

Bill Berkley, a junior at Mansfield high, had a pretty good reason for being marked "tardy" at classes yesterday. Sunday he jumped on his bicycle for Galion and dinner with an uncle. Going by the way of Marion avenue road, Bill pedalled and pedalled until his legs were ready to drop off. Then instead of approaching Galion, he noticed by a sign that he was only five miles from Mt. Gilead. Changing his course he did some more pedalling and finally arrived at 4:30, three hours after his takeoff. His equipment for the next trip probably will include a road map.

* * *

If W. W. Blauser, assistant principal at John Simpson Junior high school, is confused about the season's, there's a reason. Not only do the youngsters show every evidence of "spring fever," but there is a large bed of violets in full bloom at the rear of his home, and a bowl of them on his desk.

* * *

When the Ritz theater, which is closed for streamlining and enlarging, opens early next month, it will have one feature that will be hailed by persons who have corns and get 'em tramped on at the movies when someone moves into the same row, knocking off hats and stepping on feet. The new feature is a push-back seat which permits the person in it to move back six inches and then automatically comes back to place again. Which should do away with all that standing up just at the psychological moment on the screen. The new chair is now on display at the Citizens Savings bank.

FIGHT GOES ON

Petitions, Telegrams Seeking to Keep CCC Camp.

The fight to keep the CCC camp at Mohican park continued this week with thousands of persons in the northern part of the state signing petitions which will be forwarded to congressmen and senators, despite the fact that the workers have received little encouragement from Washington.

Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who wrote to Sen. Robert Bulkley and Congressman William A. Ashbrook, said that the latter had pledged his support, but expressed the belief that plans for moving the CCC camp to the southern part of the state were going forward. He said, however, that a continued deluge of telegrams and letters might have influence.

Lloyd Barr, president of the Mansfield Nature Study club, circulated petitions at the park itself last Sunday and secured more than 2,000 names in a few hours. He said other petitions are being circulated throughout this part of the state, and said that the Cleveland Nature clubs had also joined the protest.

WIDOW STRICKEN

Mrs. Olive Hines, 84, Dies at Home of Kin Near Fredericktown.

FREDERICKTOWN — Mrs. Olive Hines, 84, widow of William Hines, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Inks, two miles west of here, yesterday after a long illness.

Besides the daughter with whom she lived, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Walter Reep, and a son, Elmer Hines, both of this vicinity, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Inks home, with Rev. A. R. Woodworth, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

Welcome To—

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wolf, 193 Wayne street, at General hospital this morning.

A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gaul, Walker avenue, Wooster Heights, at the home Monday evening.

PLAN NEW CONN SLAYING TRIALS

State Gets Conviction in Masulla Trial; Two More to Face Jury.

(By United Press)

CADIZ — With one conviction and one acquittal behind them, Harrison county authorities today went ahead with plans for two more trials of men accused of the murder of State Patrolman George Conn near Freeport, O., on Sept. 27, 1937.

Bernard Masulla, 22, of Pittsburgh, named by the prosecution as the "trigger man" in the roadside slaying of Conn, was convicted Monday night by a jury of nine men and three women that deliberated six hours. A recommendation of mercy by the jury decreed life imprisonment instead of the electric chair.

Peter Serino of Pittsburgh was acquitted of the Conn murder last month. Booker Johnson, 42, colored, is to go on trial Oct. 24. Charles Ford, 20, colored, who testified for the state against Serino and Masulla, is under indictment but no trial date has been set.

The jury in the Masulla case at first voted 10 to 2 for conviction.

"If I'm guilty, why don't they give me the chair?" Masulla asked when he heard the verdict.

Later he said to Prosecutor Frederick Orum: "Nice work, but you found the wrong man guilty."

ADULT HOBBY CLUB PLANNED

Organization Session Set For Thursday at Y. M. C. A.

A meeting to organize a Y. M. C. A. adult hobby club will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the "Y," Donald Cram, physical instructor, announced today.

All adults interested in hobbies, and in joining such a group are invited to attend the meeting. The club will be a general hobby group, and will meet regularly.

Plans are now being made by "Y" officials for a Halloween party to be held in the gymnasium Oct. 28 for the members of all boys classes. A special program of games and athletic events is being planned for the party, according to Cram.

SAWYER PLEDGES PENSION AID; BRICKER WOULD BOOM BUSINESS

'You'll Get Checks on Time,' Dem Nominee Promises Ohio's Aged.

(By Associated Press)

WARREN — Moving through northeastern Ohio, Charles Sawyer, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, said last night that if he is elected old age pensioners will "get their checks on time.'

"I do not want to say anything about the controversy on old age pensions that will make the solution of that problem more difficult," he remarked, referring to a dispute between Gov. Martin L. Davey and the social security board at Washington.

"But I do want the old age pensioners to know that when I am governor my only object as far as they are concerned, will be to see that they get their checks on time."

In addresses here and at Ashtabula and Painesville, the Cincinnatian asserted that "state workers fired for political activity will be on the preferred list if I am elected."

"There will be no chiselers or shakedown artists in my administration," he continued. "We plan a central accounting system showing expenditures of money."

He contended that "the rank and file of the Republican party doesn't know what's going on at state headquarters because the leaders meet behind locked doors."

James M. Cox of Dayton, one-time presidential nominee and former governor of Ohio, will break into Democratic gubernatorial candidate Charles Sawyer's campaign picture by presiding at a rally in Dayton Nov. 3.

Bureau of Industry to Find New Work for Labor Plan of G. O. P. Candidate.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Asserting there was "no reason why so-called 'distress areas' should remain" in Ohio, John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, said today that "Aggressive leadership on the part of the state government will bring back industries which have left, encourage those which are here and assist men with new ideas to start new enterprises."

Speaking over a state-wide radio hookup, Bricker said in a campaign speech last night that, if elected, he would establish a bureau of industry within the department of commerce to "find means of making one attractive to industry" and to find "new products to be made by labor."

"Of course' he continued, "the high-salaried bureaucrats who run the WPA and whose jobs depend on the continuance of widespread poverty, are satisfied. They want to keep hundreds of thousands on WPA so they can control their votes. They do not want private industry to revive and provide decent jobs and good wages."

Republicans brought national Chairman John D. M. Hamilton to Ohio today for a four-day speaking tour. Hamilton is to give an address at Montpelier at 2 p. m. and again at Toledo tonight. He will speak at Marion, Middletown, Dayton, Warren and Youngstown.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HITS NEW DEAL AS DESTROYER OF PROSPERITY

Former President Calls for Defeat of '100 Per Cent' Administration Backers.

(By United Press)

HARTFORD, Conn. — Charging the New Deal with "destruction of freedom and prosperity," former President Herbert Hoover asked the American people today to elect an "independent-minded" congress as the means of safeguarding democracy.

"If freedom is to reign on this continent," Mr. Hoover said in a nationwide radio address, last night, "the American people have to attend to it themselves. They can no longer leave it to the government."

He called on both Democrats and Republicans to elect men "who will stand on their own feet," and to defeat "every man of the kind who says he is a follower of any president 100 per cent or 50 per cent or any other per cent."

"Such a man is not fit to serve," he said.

Protection Needed.

Lashing the New Deal, Mr. Hoover asserted that "never before in all American history has there been a greater need for the people to protect themselves. And it is in the power of the people to do it now. They alone can make congress the sword and buckler of their liberties."

He urged each voter to "experiment" by voting for men "who would halt" the New Deal. "For a nation to take the next two years to stop, look and listen is an experiment that could not make the situation worse," Mr. Hoover said.

"It might prove the experiment," he said, "that saved the freedom of men and women of a great nation."

Mr. Hoover's address was titled, "Undermining Representative Government," and was the second of a series of three. The first speech was given in Kansas City a few weeks ago. The third will be delivered at Spokane, Wash., Nov. 5.

SUES FOR $1,000

Father Files Action for Son Injured in Auto Accident.

Action to collect $1,000 damages as the result of an automobile accident last April had been started in municipal court today against Paul Bogner, R. D. 5, Mansfield.

Filed by C. L. Hershey, 304 Sturges avenue, in behalf of his son, Earl, the petition seeks damages for injuries suffered by the plaintiff in an automobile collision April 28 on South Mulbery street, while riding with his brother, Richard.

The petition states that young Hershey sustained a broken nose because of negligence of the defendant who is charged with making a left turn directly in front of the Hershey car without signaling.

Hershey is represented by Attorney Van C. Cook.

EX-NAZI HERE

One-Time Member of German Reich Speaks To Rotary.

Gerhart H. Seger, editor and lecturer, who was once a member of the German reichstag, was to speak at today's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Seger was once a Nazi prisoner in Germany. He later escaped to Czechoslovakia before making his way to America. He is bitterly opposed to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

Seger was brought to Mansfield by Attorney Carl H. Henkel, program chairman of today's meeting.

FAIR ENOUGH!

England Now Painfully Aware Peace at Munich Was Defeat For Empire

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Great Britain has not waited long to learn that the peace of Munich was a terrible defeat, no less harmful for the fact that it has been up to now almost painless.

There is said to be a period of shock—perhaps no more than a few seconds—in which a man who has just lost a leg does not fully feel the hurt, but already the British are aware of sharp twinges which will increase to agony very soon.

Hitler, who, recently, on the air, foamed at the mouth in hysterical denunciation of the president of a neighboring nation, has undertaken to impose on the British people a blacklist of anti-Nazi British statesmen or politicians who may hold national office only at the risk of his anger. This is a forthright assertion of the power which Hitler is attempting to exert in this country through his anti-American bunds.

Nations of equal rank already reserve the right to reject ambassadors unacceptable to them, and, in reality, strong nations often interfere in the elections of the weak. But even in this hour of irresolute confusion in Great Britain, when the pride and character of the nation are numb from shock, it must convey piercing humiliation to the people to be told in very plain effect that Hitler claims a right to censor their ballots.

By its timid submission to Mussolini's noisy rages at heavy emphasis on the Italian disgrace at Guardalajara the British press has well-prepared itself for censorship by Dr. Goebbels. Fleet street took the Duce for a bumpy ride when his invincible legions advanced rapidly to the rear in Spain, but Mussolini quickly cowed the publishers into meek avoidance of this and other tempting subjects.

The Nazis, too, have often railed at the truth-telling of free journalism, but in a country whose very government so abjectly fears to make the fuehrer mad, journalism will be imbued with the same spirit for the same reason.

* * *

Obviously, if British candidates for appointive or elective office are to be disqualified for criticizing Hitler's conduct, the British Foreign Office might as well move bodily to Berlin. Foreign policy will be the one great issue in Great Britain from this time on, and the question of foreign policy will be whether to fight Hitler or surrender.

He would blackball, with a threat of consequences adding up to war, all those who advocate resistance to anything that he has done or may do.

Incredible as it may seem, the German dictator has presumed to thrust in the hands of the British people a one-way Nazi ballot with a space in which they may vote "ja," but no place on it for a vote of "nein."

All this comes of the fact that the British neglected to keep up their air force and air defenses, but the United States is now, happily, only on the far outskirts of a similar predicament.

This country still has time in which to organize for quantity production of airplanes and, with its resources, should be able to build not merely two ships for one but conveniently five or 10 ships for every one that Hitler and Mussolini together can create

If Hitler and Mussolini are confronted with an effort as mighty as this country can make without straining half as much as they have, they will treat the United States with respect. Otherwise, they will follow the same general course that they have pursued toward Great Britain and France.

* * *

Preparedness applies, of course, in less intensive degree to the other weapons, but the air is the field in which they feel themselves to be unconquerable. And it will be noticed that as American power rises, their aggressive contempt for the feeble and unwieldly democracies will moderate in due proportion.

Up to now, both Hitler and Mussolini have refrained from the direct approach to the internal politics of this country that has been seen in their invasion of Great Britain's domestic prerogatives. But, two years ago, Hitler, through his press, warned "the nation of people who wear their hats in the house, put their feet on the table and spit chewing gum at the walls" that he might take an interest in American domestic affairs, which would not be pleasant.

That interest manifests itself now in the operations of the anti-American bunds, whose program is out of the same book that was followed by the Henlein treason in Czechoslovakia.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—While all Hollywood hung on the headlines and talked of little but the vital question—peace or war?—there was one film the fate of which was immediately at stake.

At Metro the production problem that depended hour by hour on the turn of events in Europe was "Idiot's Delight."

The Robert Sherwood play, with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, was a powerful indictment of war. M-G-M bought it as such, and made plans for a big co-starring of its own (don't laugh) Lunt and Fontanne, namely, Clark Gable and Norma Shearer.

* * *

The treatment, naturally, was a problem. The movies can't offend anybody. The play made no secret of its setting—Italy. It blamed munitions manufacturers as the fomenters of war, and made the aligning of armed force against armed force a pretty silly business which it doubtless is.

The first and obvious step was to take the play from Italy and place it in an indefinite country. For all that, the Italian government protested, and Metro discreetly and quietly dropped its plans temporarily. It kept Miss Shearer busy with "Marie Antoinette," not entirely to Norma's happiness for she often said she would have preferred to return to the screen in the modern setting of "Idiot's Delight." It kept Gable busy in "Test Pilot" and "Too Hot to Handle," and all the while ironed out the "Idiot's Delight" affair.

Clarence Brown, selected to direct the picture, took occasion to visit Italy in the course of his European trip. Probably as a direct result, the studio announced that it would make the picture after all.

* * *

Miss Shearer's costumes, and Gable's, were ready, and the starting date was set for October 10. And then the world—and Hollywood—entered on those crucial final days of September, with the ball of world affairs spinning madly in the roulette wheel of diplomacy, no one knowing its ultimate resting place.

Until that ball started its wild career, "Idiot's Delight" was one of the screen's timeliest subjects—a plea for peace.

But if war came, Metro would be in the position of a newsboy trying to peddle last week's paper. What good a plea for peace when there is no peace, and so on.

Anyone familiar with the ways of Hollywood, even if he did a Rip Van Winkle for the next couple of years, could get a fair idea of what had happened in the 1938 crisis by seeing "Idiot's Delight."

If the picture is a strong indictment of war, and a plea for peace, then he'd know that things blew over and all went well.

If it was stronger than that, and lambasted war and yelled for a little American preparedness—as in the old silent "Battle Cry of Peace"—our Rip could guess that the European football teams had kicked off at last and the game was on.

And if it really went to town, with no holds barred, Rip could guess—and correctly—that Uncle Sam had taken sides. One of Hollywood's strongest bits of propaganda in the World war, remember, was called "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin!"

Linta's Going Up, and Up

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

JUST SHORTS—Overheard at the half of a recent football game: "If we lose this one I lose $75 if seven other teams I picked win" . . . Now the pro football league is coming out with a movie patterned after the American league baseball film . . . Don't be surprised if Warren Brown, a Chicago writer, joins the Cubs as president . . . Lefty Gomez paid the following tribute to Lou Gehrig: "He's got a better constitution that the United States."

Braddock.

Ben Fleming, who caused the Tygers so much trouble over in Sandusky Saturday, is only a sophomore. So there's two more years of Fleming trouble ahead of the Tygers . . . Red Cagle, one of West Point's greatest, is officiating in Eastern football circles this year.

Lou Kolls, one of the world's series umpires, made his debut as a professional arbiter under the wing of Bill Ferguson, Shelby bowling impressario . . . Max Baer never has been beaten twice by the same fighter. So, look out Joe Louis. Oh, yeh! . . .

Duke Weber probably has bowled in more A. B. C. tournaments than any other Mansfielder. He took part in his first A. B. C. in 1903, the third year after it was organized. Still one of the best keglers in the city, Duke bowls in tennis shoes. The only other bowler we ever knew who used the same footgear was A. D. Lynch . . . Mansfield's Dan Simons, at 147 pounds, is the lightest player on the Wooster college squad.

Mike Linta is crossing the pole vaulting bar at better than 14 feet in fall workouts at Ohio State . . . Add to bowling duos looking for competition: Fred Berry and Red McGregor . . . Arlie Latham, now 79, who once wore Mansfield baseball livery, is employed as custodian of the press box at the Yankee Stadium.

Ashland's Dick Lutz Remembers Willie Turnesa.

IT was just three years ago that Willie Turnesa, new U. S. amateur champ, had all he could do to beat Ashland's Dick Lutz in the National amateur . . . In 1887 roughness in football had reached such proportions that the captains of Yale, Wesleyan, Harvard, Penn and Princeton signed a pledge outlawing slugging. But like more treaties, it didn't work. The following year the job of umpire was created to keep the lads in line.

As the Ohio scholastic gridiron campaign passes the halfway mark, the spread of the five-man line in its many variations for defensive purpases today ranked as one of the most significant trends in high school football strategy.

The ticket sale for the Ohio State-Michigan game is hitting a fast pace since the Wolverines proved they're tough again . . . Jimmy Braddock is supposed to be getting 20 per cent of the net profits of Joe Louis' fights while he is champion. It is said that it was this arrangement that caused Jimmy to defend his crown against the colored clouter instead of Max Schmeling.

Van Mungo's Bum Arm to Cost Him Big Slash.

AND Eddie Brietz adds: Note to Van Mungo, Pageland, S. C.: You probably haven't heard it yet, but that bum arm you developed last season is going to cost you a two-thirds slash in salary . . . In other words, the Dodgers will offer you $5,000 instead of the $15,000 you drew last season . . . Every time Army hears where "Broncho" Brunner of Tulane ran wild in the south it gives them a headache, for "Broncho" turned down an appointment to West Point last summer. . . . Hack Wilson, who used to hit all those homers for the Cubs, is working in a Brooklyn floor show for coffee and cake money. . . . Why doesn't some major league club grab a smart baseballer like Frankie Frisch right quick? . . . All America pickers should keep their eyes glued on Bill Dwyer, halfback on the New Mexico university team. . . . If you don't believe the boy's good, ask Dixie Howell, the former Alabama star, who is coaching down that way. . . . The word from Detroit is that Schoolboy Rowe is on the way back, better than ever. Let's all hope so, for the Schoolboy is a regular.

Undefeated Teams Favored to Extend Streaks

Shelby, Galion and Bellville Boast Only Unmarred Records in District

SHELBY, Galion and Bellville high school grid representatives remain the only undefeated teams in the district as the season rolls into the second half this week-end.

According to current betting odds, the undefeated and untied clubs will go into their games favored to extend their streaks.

Favored Over Tygers.

The Whippets, who have not permitted a touchdown this season, engage Mansfield's Tygers in Shelby Saturday, and this game should attract one of the biggest crowds in Skiles field history as it will mark the first time in many autumns that the Bordertown athletes go into the renewal of this traditional series the favorites.

Galion's fast-stepping Orangemen will go to Mt. Vernon Friday night in search of their sixth straight victory. The Orangemen are heavily favored.

Bellville engages Sunbury on the home gridiron Friday afternoon, and the central Ohio team is not expected to extend the Blue Jays unless it has shown marked improvement since its appearance at Madison.

Madison high is host to Norwalk St. Paul's under the Rams' bulbs Friday, and the Catholic school can hardly be rated as a push-over. The Norwalk club stacks up as the strongest Class B foe the Rams have tackled up to date.

Mt. Gilead and Loudonville, which form the Mid-State league with Madison and Bellville, also meet non-league foes this week-end. Loudonville will entertain Danville, while Mt. Gilead goes to Fredericktown.

Faces St. Wendlin.

Crestline, which turned in one of the biggest upsets of the season last week when it trounced Mt. Vernon, will turn on the lights Friday night for a tussle with Fostoria St. Wendlin.

Other games in the vicinity this week-end find Centerburg at Butler, New London at Vermilion and Kenton at Bucyrus.

The records of the district teams follow:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Opp.
Shelby	5	0	0	154	0
Galion	5	0	0	157	45
Bellville	4	0	0	122	18

Here's Fleming Heading Goalward for Sandusky

Ben Fleming, Sandusky sophomore sub who starred in Saturday's Sandusky-Mansfield football game, is shown as he raced around his own left end in the fourth quarter for a substantial gain. The fleet-footed Fleming was snapped in action by Art Kochenderfer, member of Sandusky Newspapers, Inc., camera staff.

Don Budge Gets $75,000 Offer to Quit Amateurs.

OAKLAND, Cal.—(INS)—Button, button, who's got the $100,000, is the game J. Donald Budge, world's tennis champion, was playing today.

The hundred-grand asking price to leave the ranks of those who play for naught but fun was revealed by the red thatched star when he announced receipt of a $75,000 offer. The proposal was made by Jack Harris, Chicago sports promoter—$75,000 for a one-year worldwide professional tour.

Campbell Sets Record With 655; Christman, Orr Top Club League

Liederkranz Team Gains First Place In Handicap Circuit; Four Teams Tied for Runner-Up Post.

THANKS to the Schoolmasters, the Liederkranz club today led the Club handicap league by one game.

Favored with a 450-pin handicap, the Schoolmasters took three games from the Legionnaires to enable the Liederkranz keglers to go in front.

Rolling a 2956 total from scores of 934, 1026 and 996, the Liederkranz also was forced to combat a big handicap, but the only real scare it encountered came in the opener which it won by 12 pins.

Featuring the match was a 650 total manufactured by Paul Christman of the Dairys. He opened with a 179 and then spun out a pair of 236's. Harold Selby, 618, and Clyde Ritter, 615, led the winners.

One of the oddest scores rolled last night was turned in by Bill Donnellan of the Liederkranz club, who did not suffer a miss or a split, but failed to reach the 600 figures by three pins.

The defeated Legionnaires hammered the wood for a 2812 count, with Pete Grohol high with a 601.

Led by Orr, who pounded out a 650 to tie Christman for individual honors, the Optimists walloped the sticks for a 2779 total to take three from the Tracy & Avery club to gain a share of second place. Orr put together games of 244, 227 and 179.

The Commercial Managers and Kiwanians also figured in the tie for the runner-up position. The Managers trimmed the Mansfield Savings bank and the service club bowed to the J. A. C. club. The Baku Grotto took two decisions from the Mansfield Athletic club in the other match.

Linco Star Breaks Two Records.

HAROLD CAMPBELL established two new season records in the Commercial C league.

Rolling with Lamb's Lincos, Campbell hung up a new single game record of 256 and a new three-game mark of 655 as he led his team to three easy victories over The News-Journals. His string also included a 214 and 185.

The strong Gimbel Confectioners annexed the team scoring laurels with a 2637, which enabled them to win the first two games without effort. The New Method Laundries braced in the last game, but lost 817 to 809 to permit the Confectioners to take three games.

The Gimbel team, led by Whitey Gimbel's 587, has lost only one game. The Walters Barbers are also defeated once this season, but they were idle last night.

The Levering Dairys compiled a 2593 total to take two tilts from the Art Rattan Works, Henke contributing a 574. Major of the losers reached the same figures.

In the other matches, Druschel's Drugs took a pair from Shaw's Jewelers and the Hecht & Casey Coals won two from the Goodrich Silvertown club.

All Cripple Creek's Surprised, Team Wins.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo.—(AP) Residents of the Cripple Creek-Victor mining district still are a little surprised. Their high school boys, who have been playing on an old cyanide dump, have won a football game.

The 7-0 victory over the Colorado Springs reserves was something of a shock to Coach Tom Dillingham, too. When 25 boys answered the call for football practice, Dillingham found only seven had ever seen football played.

Hangs Up 189 Points

19 Schoolboy Teams Boast Perfect Records at Halfway Mark.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Unless something happens in a hurry to clear up the situation, the end of Ohio's high school football campaign will find a host of teams snatching for at least a portion of the mythical state championship.

With the season half over, at least 19 squads were rolling along without a stigma on their record, and four others were right on their heels with four wins and a tie. Of the leaders, 13 had five straight victories, a quartet had four in a row, and two teams had won three.

Four Drop Out.

Last week-end's heavy firing moved only four high-ranking outfits from the select class, Alliance, Portsmouth Central Catholic and East Liverpool succumbing for the first time, and Bellevue getting tangled up in a scoreless tie.

Massillon's Tigers, state champs the last three years, pushed the Alliance squad out of the picture before 12,000 fans by a 19 to 6 count, the winners getting two touchdowns in the first five minutes. Hillis Hume, Alliance quarterback and the state's No. 1 scoring machine, failed to add to his 102 points, but he did pass for the only Aviator touchdown and played a whale of an all-around game.

Capt. Vince Snyder was the spearhead of the Massillon attack with two touchdowns, racing 70 yards for the first one.

Canton McKinley swamped Elmira, N. Y., 52 to 6 to take over the scoring leadership among the clean slate teams. Marion Motley, huge colored halfback, scored four touchdowns and kicked three extra points for the Bulldogs. He was out of two games with injuries, but counted 60 points in the three he played.

New Philadelphia hoisted East Liverpool out of the title fight by 24 to 14; New Boston handed Portsmouth Central Catholic its first defeat, 12 to 7, while Bellevue could get no beter than a scoreless deadlock with Lakeside.

Hamilton's Big Blue won its 12th straight and its fifth of the season over Ironton, 20 to 0, with Paul Sarringhous, quarterback, scoring his 13th and 14th touchdowns. A crowd of 4,500 saw the contest.

Portsmouth's huge team, rated tops in southern Ohio, unleashed a flock of talent in running over Chillicothe 31 to 6 for its fifth in a row. Heaviest praise was heaped on Clyde Redding, 200-pound co-captain and end; Jim Barker, a "longer punter and better runner" than Howard Wedebrook, now of Ohio State; and Paul Kline, who tossed three passes, all for touchdowns.

Capt. Billy Munsey led Fostoria to its fifth win, 31 to 0, over Lima South, but brightest of the individual stars was Sammy Pentenilli of Steubenville Central Catholic who scored both touchdowns as Mingo Junction fell by 13 to 0. The two markers boosted Sammy into second place in the scoring race with 85 points.

Sandusky, its record marred by a tie, swamped Mansfield 45 to 0 in fighting back toward the peak. In the same sector Sandusky St. Mary's won its fourth straight in five starts, downing Fremont St. Joe 25 to 0.

James Ford Rhodes of Cleveland ran its string to 22 without defeat by nosing out Marion Harding 6 to 0 for its fourth win of the year.

Student Wins N. Y. Hunk of Feather Title

Joey Archibald Defeats Belloise by Decision.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Joey Archibald, wearing New York's hunk of the world featherweight crown jauntily above his gashed brow, today craved a crack at Leo Rodak of Chicago to prove himself undisputed 126-pound king.

Archibald, bull-shouldered medical student from Providence college, won New York state's recognition last night by out-roughing Mike Belloise, spidery Bronx Italian, in a 15-round brawl-burlesque at old St. Nick's arena.

Joey's decision in this combination boxing, wrestling and football melee elevated him to the throne vacated recently by Henry Armstrong, so far as New York is concerned. But the National Boxing association will withhold recognition until after Archibald tangles with Rodak. The N. B. A. considers the future physician merely the No. 1 contender and Rodak the No. 2. Belloise was ranked sixth.

The United Press scored nine rounds for Joey, three for Mike and three even. Judges Joe Lynch and George Lecron voted for Archibald, and Referee Arthur Donovan called it a draw.

There was not a knockdown during the 15 rounds but there was plenty of blood and about 20 single and double bulling spills through the ropes and out onto the ring apron. During the primitive mauling, Joe suffered a deep gash on his forehead and a cut in his left cheek. Mike's left eye was cut, his mouth bloodied and his right eye almost closed.

Archibald weighed 124¾ pounds; Belloise 125¼. The gross gate was $6,628.11; attendance 4,818.

OUTPOINTS TURNER

CHICAGO—Billy Celebron, 159, Rockford, Ill., outpointed Irish Bob Turner, 157½, Newport News, Va. (10).

Shelby and Galion, right on Canton McKinley's trail in the high-scoring race, won their fifth consecutive games, the former 48 to 0 over Bucyrus to keep its goal line uncrossed, and Galion beating Norwalk, 38 to 13.

Madison township of Mansfield, highest scoring team in the state with 189 points despite one defeat in five starts, romped over Upper Sandusky 34 to 12. Toledo Scott, No. 1 team in the northwest sector, handed the hitherto unbeaten Libbey squad a 28 to 18 setback. Only a tie mars Scott's five-game program for the year.

Bill Knisley scored two touchdowns and two extra points for Xenia Central, running his year's total to 63, as the fifth straight win was hung up at the expense of Dayton Fairmont. In that same region Dayton Fairview, with four wins and one defeat, looks like the best. Springfield high, despite the loss of a couple of games, counted its season a success after blanking its traditional rival, Dayton Stivers 13 to 0.

Halts Coshocton.

Marietta swung over to a five-man defensive line to halt Coshocton's passes, won 28 to 0, and took over the leadership of the Central Buckeye league. The river city crew was but two strides away from its third straight title, but must hurdle Lancaster and Cambridge.

Columbus North stayed right with the rest of the top-notch pack by downing Columbus South, 21 to 0, for for its fifth in a row, while Upper Arlington, in beating Columbus Rosary 14 to 6, won its fourth of the year and its 13th straight.

Marion St. Mary's four-game winning streak was snapped by Springfield Central Catholic, 26 to 0. Capt. Bob Yountz scoring three touchdowns and tossing a pass for the fourth.

Pitt on Top In A-P Poll

83 of 94 Experts Rate Panthers No. 1 in Nation.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Until information to the contrary is received, Pittsburgh remains the nation's No. 1 football team.

The first nation-wide Associated Press poll of sports writers today served merely to confirm that fact. The Golden Panthers were on top at the end of the 1937 campaign and today they were rated so far ahead of the field the others were hardly worth mentioning.

Pitt, undefeated since 1936, the first choice of 83 of the 94 experts who contributed to the ballot. Six named Minnesota first, three picked Texas Christian and one gave California and Dartmouth a vote each.

PIMPENELLI WINS

WASHINGTON — Vincent Pimpenelli, 150, New York, outpointed Phil Furr, 150, Washington (10).

HERE'S THE $1.00 ANTI-FREEZE

you can put in this very day

Fifty cents' worth now keeps most cars safe down to 10° above zero

MAYBE this is an "Indian Summer" day, when you're not even thinking of anti-freeze. But you know a cold snap will come. Set your mind at ease now. Have your dealer or service station man put a couple of quarts of Du Pont "Zerone"* Anti-Freeze in your car today.

Check the radiator solution from time to time. When winter gets down to real business, add enough "Zerone" for lower temperatures. Scientific tests prove that radiator losses are chiefly mechanical, and even then you lose a solution of "Zerone" and water—not one or the other alone. With "Zerone" you get improved engine performance, due to better heat dissipation, and more pep and efficiency, through prevention of rust and corrosion in a clean cooling system. All for only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Div., Wilmington, Del.

PIE TRAYNOR RETAINED AT 'SIZEABLE INCREASE'

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Harold (Pie) Traynor has been retained as manager of the Pittsburgh National League baseball club for 1939 at a "sizeable increase in salary," President William E. Benswanger announced today. The contract is for one year.

Sandusky, Newark On Harriers' Sked

Mansfield high school's harriers, who have won two of their four dual meets, go into action twice this week. Sandusky, defeated by the Red Streaks Saturday, 19 to 36, come to Mansfield Wednesday. Mansfield will meet Newark here Saturday.

The home cross country runners gave their best performance of the season Saturday when they copped five of the first six positions. Earl Bates led the pack in 11:15 minutes, with Joe Meske of Sandusky second.

Robert Donnan, Will Dusty, Ed Williams and Robert Yarman of Mansfield finished in that order behind Meske.

TONY CANZONERI LOSES TO ZIVIC IN COMEBACK

SCRANTON, Pa.—(U.P.)— Tony Canzoneri, former holder of three world's boxing titles, insisted today that he would continue his comeback despite the loss of a 10-round decision to Eddie Zivic of Pittsburgh. Canzoneri dropped a split decision to Vizic in a battle before 2,500 last night. The fans booed the decision.

One judge gave Zivic the nod and the other called it a draw. Referee Al Murphy balloted for Zivic, giving the 140-pound Pittsburg battler the fight. Canzoneri weighed 144.

WINS ON KAYO

PADLEY RETAINS LEAD IN TOUCHDOWN RACE

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Jack Padley, fleet Dayton U. halfback, added one touchdown against Toledo last Saturday to hold his individual scoring lead among Ohio's college football players. The touchdown which helped the Flyers win, 17 to 13, brought Padley's total to 42 points but he was closely pressed by Johnny Ries brilliant sophomore halfback with Western Reserve. Ries tallied twice against Baldwin-Wallace and ran his mark to 36.

DOUBT WHETHER LEWIS CAN PARE POUNDAGE

POMPTON LAKES, N. J.—(U.P.)—John Henry Lewis, world light heavyweight champion, will conclude heavy training today for his title defense against Al Gainer in New Haven Friday night. There had been some talk that Lewis, who has been fighting as a full fledged heavyweight for more than a year, would not be able to pare his pounds down to the 176 limit, but his manager, Gus Greenlee, assured any doubters by scheduling the last sparring session today.

MART ANALYSTS ENCOURAGED BY BANK REPORTS

Statements Disclose Broadest Gain in Business, Farm Loans This Year.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Renewed weakness of coppers and specialties brought more unsettlement into the stock market today and pivotal issues gave up fractions to 2 or more points.

Prominent on the retreat were Anaconda, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Cerro De Pasco, duPont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Edison, American Telephone and Allis Chalmers.

Reports of new slashes in quotations for steel products also tended to dim speculative sentiment. At the same time, most brokers thought business news, on the whole, was constructive.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. European securities markets were ragged.

Anaylsts derived encouragement from statements of federal reserve member banks in 101 cites for the week ended last Wednesday disclosing the broadest gain in business and farm loans so far recorded this year.

Reserve authorities reported bankers' acceptances outstanding in the United States at the end of September were up $3,111,329 for the month but $82,988,172 under September, 1937.

2 Families of 8 Sisters Tied In Theater Contest

A Mansfield family and a Bellville family were tied for honors in the "most daughters" contest which the Ohio theater conducted in connection with the showing of the film, "Four Daughters."

Mrs. Flossie Wade, Okenwald avenue, has eight daughters—her three boys don't count in this contest—and all of them will be guests of the Ohio theater Wednesday night. Besides Mrs. Wade there will be Evelyn, Betty, Ellen and Edith Wade, all pupils at Newman shool; Nora and Laura Wade at home; Mrs. Mary Wade Aumend, North Walnut street, and Mrs. Helen Wade Vaughn, Sixth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Yarger, Bellville, also will be guests of the Ohio tomorrow night and will bring eight daughters to see "Four Daughters." They are Sadie, Annabelle, Nellie, Galena, Wanda, Lucinda, Florence and Frances Yarger, all at home.

The theater's offer to admit free any four sisters who were in school, on a letter from teachers or principals, brought a deluge of "sisters." Twelve sets of "four sisters" were guests of the theater the first three days of the five-day run.

Germans Demobilize 'Maneuver' Army.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Germany started today to demobilize the formidable "maneuver" army whose formation nine weeks ago marked the start of Europe's gravest crisis since 1914.

More than 500,000 reservists will be sent home during the next three or four weeks.

At about the time the last contingents of reserves are released, it is planned to send home also the first class to receive two years of military training under the compulsory service law enacted in defiance of the Versailles treaty. These will be replaced by a new class—a large one this fall, because recruits from Austria's 7,500,000 and the 3,500,000 of German Sudetenland will be included.

Today marked the official start of the dispersal period which also marked the end, in Adolf Hitler's eyes, of the Czechoslovak crisis during which he confronted the great democratic powers of Europe with his "or else" demands—and won without the firing of a shot.

Reservists were assured of a warm welcome in their home towns, not only by their families but by their employers and fellow workers, in industries that are operating at top speed, have needed them sorely.

Retained on emergency duty were scores of thousands of men drafted for the labor corps.

Nazis Jail 6 Priests In 'Treason' Drive.

VIENNA — (AP) — Six Catholic priests and an employe of Theodore Cardinal Innitzer were under arrest today in continuation of what Nazis declared were measures against the "treasonable" attitude of the clergy toward the Nazi party and Adolf Hitler personally.

Those arrested, Nazis said, were suspected of organizing a demonstration before Saint Stephen's cathedral Oct. 7 during which Catholic youths chanted, after the Nazi fashion, "we want to see our bishop," using the word "bishop" instead of the customary "fuehrer."

They also were believed to be suspected of having a hand in the distribution of leaflets setting forth the Catholic side of recent Nazi-Catholic incidents which reached a climax on the night of Oct. 8, when a pro-Nazi crowd stoned Cardinal Innitzer's palace.

Britain to Build New Battleship, Cruisers.

LONDON — (U.P.)—British naval expansion plans for 1939 include at least one 35,000-ton battleship, several cruisers, two flotillas of destroyers and numerous motor torpedo boats in addition to a big program of naval aviation development, it was reported today in well informed quarters.

Reports of new naval rearmament, in addition to the gigantic program of land and air armament, came as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain prepared to return to London from his vacation in Scotland to preside at tomorrow's important cabinet meeting.

Reports that Germany may soon propose negotiations on armaments and colonies—in both of which categories Great Britain would be asked to make definite sacrifices—were expected to come under consideration.

In addition, there were the Spanish problem, relations with Italy and the expansion and reconstruction of the cabinet.

BUT—The sad part is we still have way too many Used Cars. NOW—We've got to get rid of them, and rather than ship them all out of town to used car buyers we'd rather give you the benefit of these WHOLESALE prices. Now is your big chance. DOUG MILLER means business. They've all got to go. We're not going to bother to list them. We've got anything you want, little ones, big ones, late ones, old ones, in any make and model. Just come in and pick one out—we'll take your present car in trade and give you terms to suit you.

THE KING DOES NOT ANSWER OUR DEMAND FOR AN APOLOGY
VERY WELL, LET'S TAKE ACTION
I KNOW WHO SPRINKLED PEPPER ON OUR KA-BABAGE. IT WAS WIMPY WIMPY?
YES, WIMPY!
WIMPY NEEDS A GOOD SWIFT KICK
HOW CAN WE KICK HIM, BILL?
WELL, WE WILL KICK EVERYBODY IN DEMONIA UNTIL WE KICK WIMPY!
OKAY, LET'S GET STARTED
DEMONIA IS A LOVELY PLACE WHEN THE DEMONS BEHAVE

PAM—Paige Speaks. By A. W. Brewerton

PAM, PROBABLY YOU KNOW IT WITHOUT MY SAYING SO — BUT I HAVE REALLY LOVED YOU FROM THE DAY I FIRST SAW YOU! — BUT I WASN'T FREE THEN TO TELL YOU — AS I AM NOW!
KNOWING YOU BETTER, SEEING YOU MORE, HAS ONLY STRENGTHENED THAT DEEP AND DEVOTED REGARD I FEEL FOR YOU! — NOTHING WOULD MAKE ME HAPPIER THAN TO MAKE YOU MY WIFE, PAM — — BUT I DO NOT EXPECT YOU, NOW, TO CONSIDER THAT! — I — I KNOW AT WHAT A DISADVANTAGE I AM — OPPOSED TO YOUNGER MEN — BUT I JUST WANT TO MAKE MY POSITION CLEAR 10-18
— I'M STILL IN MY PRIME, PAM — I HOPE AND PRAY THAT SOME DAY I MAY WIN YOU! I FEEL VERY CERTAIN I COULD MAKE YOU HAPPY — WE HAVE SO MUCH IN COMMON, OUR LIKES AND DISLIKES — AND YOUR SLIGHTEST WISH WOULD ALWAYS BE A JOY TO ME TO FULFILL! — — I — I JUST WANT YOU TO KNOW HOW I FEEL, PAM — — — — I'LL NOT ANNOY YOU — SPEAKING OFTEN OF THIS — SUBJECT, MY DEAR! I — JUST WANTED YOU TO KNOW — THAT I DO LOVE YOU — DEVOTEDLY — AND — I'LL ALWAYS — BE WAITING!
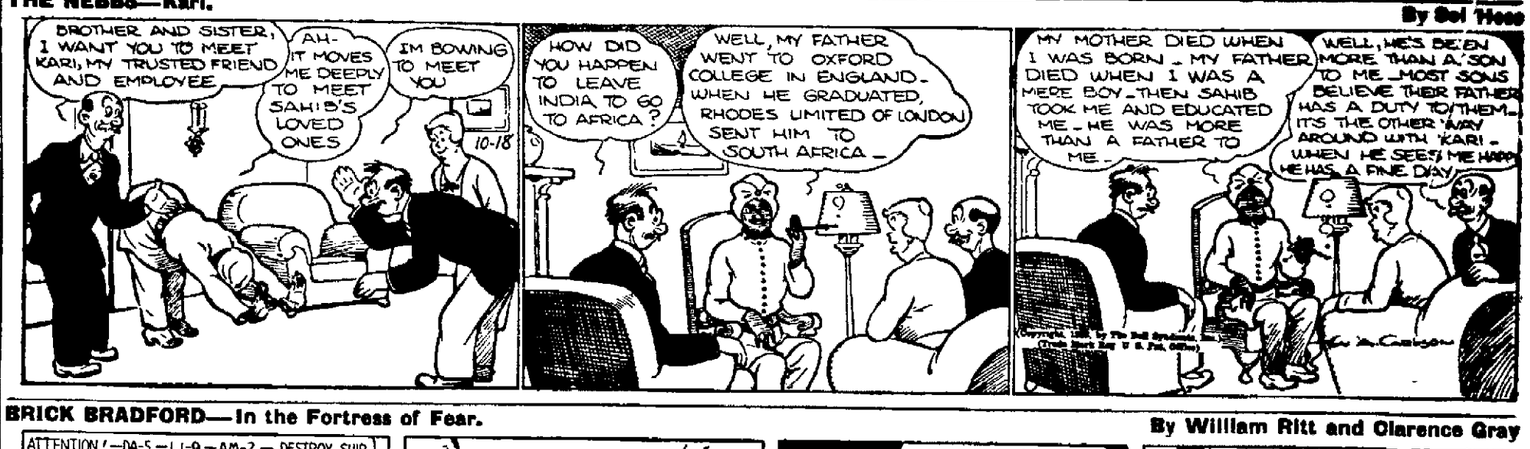
PAM IS BREATHLESS, DEEPLY AFFECTED!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—"Stuff That Dreams Are Made Of." By Harold Gray

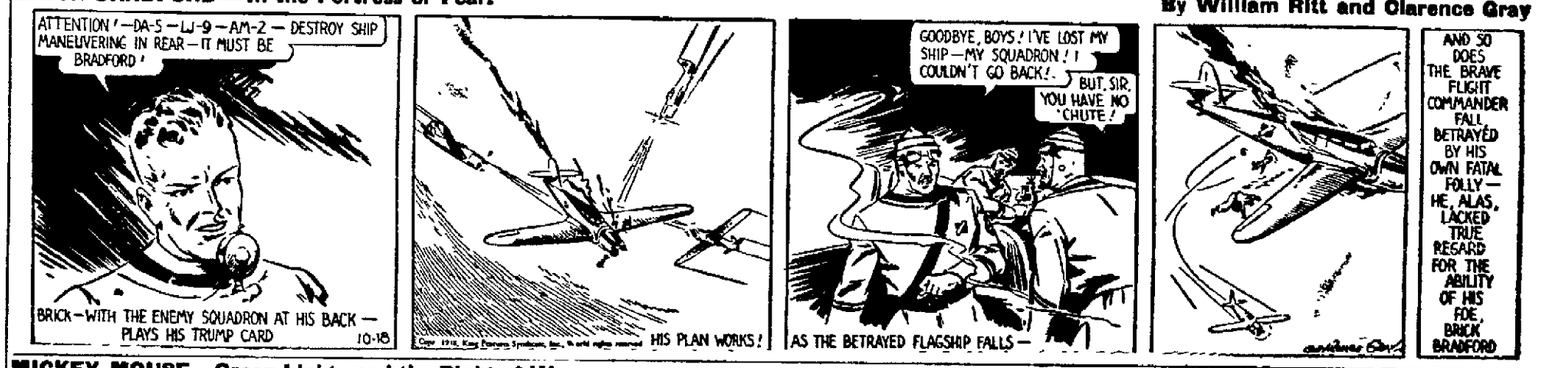
AGAIN LAST NIGHT, I DREAMED OF MY CALEB — CHUCKLING OVER SOME SECRET — POOR CALEB — JUST AS HE WAS THIRTY YEARS AGO — HE SEEMED SO PLEASED. BUT HE WOULD NOT TELL ME WHY. IN MY DREAM —
10-18 38
YET, SOMEHOW, I GOT THE IDEA THAT AT LAST THE MAN WHO CAUSED HIS MURDER HAD MET HIS FATE — A SUITABLE FATE — ONE THAT PLEASED MY CALEB VERY MUCH —
CALEB COULD BE TERRIBLE AND MERCILESS, BUT HE WAS JUST — PUNISHMENT SHOULD FIT THE CRIME. HE USED TO SAY — BUT WHAT PUNISHMENT COULD EVEN ACCOUNTS WITH THE FIEND WHO CAUSED MY CALEB'S DEATH?
HAROLD GRAY'S
AH, ME — WHY DOES ONE HAVE SUCH DREAMS? DO WE EVER UNWITTINGLY TOUCH UNKNOWN TRUTHS IN DREAMS?
EH? HM — WELL, I'D HATE TO TRY TO ANSWER THAT, MRS. ALDEN —

THE NEBBS—Karl. By Sol Hess



BROTHER AND SISTER, I WANT YOU TO MEET KARI, MY TRUSTED FRIEND AND EMPLOYEE
AH — IT MOVES ME DEEPLY TO MEET SAHIB'S LOVED ONES
I'M BOWING TO MEET YOU
10-18
HOW DID YOU HAPPEN TO LEAVE INDIA TO GO TO AFRICA?
WELL, MY FATHER WENT TO OXFORD COLLEGE IN ENGLAND — WHEN HE GRADUATED, RHODES LIMITED OF LONDON SENT HIM TO SOUTH AFRICA —
MY MOTHER DIED WHEN I WAS BORN — MY FATHER DIED WHEN I WAS A MERE BOY — THEN SAHIB TOOK ME AND EDUCATED ME — HE WAS MORE THAN A FATHER TO ME —
WELL, HE'S BEEN MORE THAN A SON TO ME — MOST SONS BELIEVE THEIR FATHER HAS A DUTY TO THEM — IT'S THE OTHER WAY AROUND WITH KARI — WHEN HE SEES ME HAPPY HE HAS A FINE DAY!

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



ATTENTION! — DA-5 — LW-9 — AM-2 — DESTROY SHIP MANEUVERING IN REAR — IT MUST BE BRADFORD!

TOWNSEND OR G. O. P. RALLY?

That's Question as Pension Plan Advocates Announce Session Here Thursday.

trict, because Walter B. Woodward, Bellville, the Republican nominee for congress in the district, is backed by the Townsend organization.

Although Woodward did not receive the support of the Republican organizations in the primary campaign, party leaders accepted him without question as their candidate after he was nominated.

Handbills advertise the rally Thursday night as a Townsend meeting with the location at the Republican headquarters typed on the bills after they were printed in Columbus.

Principal speaker at the rally at 7:30 p. m. will be Beecher E. Hess of Norwood, O., a national Townsend organizer. Woodward, the congressoional candidate, also will speak.

Woodward is scheduled to talk at a meeting at the Republican headquarters Wednesday night when Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, the party's candidate for U. S. senator, will be the principal speaker.

Woodward will talk at a Republican rally tonight in Johnstown, home of William A. Ashbrook, veteran Democratic congressman and candidate for re-election.

Dems Point for Saturday.

Pointing for a major rally in Mansfield Saturday night, county Democrats will have a comparatively quiet week with only one meeting scheduled before Saturday.

W. J. Rogers, representing the state treasurer's office, will speak at a rally Thursday night of the Richland County Colored Democratic club at the organization's headquarters at 246 North Diamond street.

With more than 250 women from the Eighth and 17th districts expected here Saturday afternoon for a Democratic luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Mrs. Marie Bell, in charge of arrangements for the meeting, said reservations would be available at Democratic headquarters only until Thursday night.

Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, and Robert J. Bulkley, candidate for U. S. senator, will be the major speakers at both the afternoon and night meetings.

The Richland County unit of Labor's Non-Partisan league today announced the endorsement of P. H. Rogers, Republican, for the state senate from the 27th-29th district; Ralph Lutz, Democrat, for re-election to the state legislature from Richland county; and C. L. Mitchell, Democrat, for county commissioner.

The state organization recently endorsed Ashbrook, the Democratic candidate, for congress in the 17th district along with most of the Democratic congressional candidates in the state.

Maurice C. Brown, Lorain, Democratic candidate for state senator from the 27th-29th district, which includes Richland county, today had received the endorsement of 31 labor organizations in Lorain county through the county's Non-Partisan council.

married life. But "Colonel Gimp" reiterated his claim that Alderman shot first in a melee in the Etting music room.

Holding her year-old daughter to her breast, Mrs. Alma Alderman hotly declared that her husband showered with clothing and jewelry and other expensive gifts, had been lured from her by Miss Etting within a few days of the baby's birth.

A former stage dancer herself, Mrs. Alderman said Miss Etting was capable of earning $1,000 monthly on the radio and $150,000 was "reasonable" damages.

Alderman's second marriage also developed a question mark as a result of a check of court records. This showed that his first wife, Helen, obtained an interlocutory decree on Jan. 7, 1935, requiring a year to become final. But on Jan. 9, only two days later, Mrs. Alma Alderman declares they were wed in Tijuana, Mex.

54 Acres Planted Last Spring to Help Lick Depression Produce Bumper Crops.

Empire plant, the 120 men planted their gardens last April with seeds provided by the Delano lodge. The land, located in East Mansfield, near the fairground, and oft Trimble road west of the city, was donated by public-spirited citizens.

Thirty-seven individual gardens were planted and tended in East Mansfield, with the gardeners receiving everything they produced. The rest of the land was planted on the co-operative plan, each man who helped receiving a share of the vegetables.

Now that most of the garden produce is stored for the winter, the same men are renewing a wood-cutting project they started last year to provide fuel and save on coal bills.

Charles Hartenfels, Mansfield filling station operator, has turned 50 acres of woodlots over to the Delano lodge and axes will soon be ringing as the woodsmen take another step in their program to beat Old Man Depression.

Members of the committee in charge of the gardens were A. Davis, Wayne Rose, Ralph Barrett, Jack Hamilton and R. D. Lumpkin.

GALION HEARS TALK ON OHIO SCHOOL CRISIS

Deitrich Says Sales Tax Drop Threatens Closing; Hopes Rest With Assembly.

GALION—Ohio's school financial condition was discussed in a talk here Monday night when E. N. Deitrich, state director of education, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Galion Rotary club at Carmel's.

There were 32 principals and teachers present for the meeting besides Fred P. Strothers of Marion, and Louise John, member of the Galion board of education, and the Rotary club members.

Deitrich opened his talk by telling of the concern of early settlers of the United States for education, and their interest in establishing schools and colleges. In Ohio, the establishment of a free public school system was incorporated in the first state constitution in 1802. He paid tribute to the one-room school and its teachers, and told of its influence on early education of the state and nation. He said there are now 1,250,000 school children in Ohio who are taught by 42,000 teachers, and that in the last nine years the cost of education in the state has been $90,000,000. Deitrich stated that there is one-third as much spent for education each year in the state, as there is for tobacco and liquor.

Widely Recognized.

Sixty per cent of the educational funds is derived from the school foundation program, he said, and this program is recognized throughout the country and in Europe as one of the best. He said the only thing wrong with it was that it wasn't properly financed, and that on Jan. 1, 1939 there will be a deficit of $15,000,000. He explained the reason for this was the fact that in 1935 when the foundation program became effective, the program took over the $8,000,000 debt for old state aid school districts.

He stated further that 60 per cent of the money for this program is derived from 60 per cent of the sales tax after all other distributions have been made for relief and for other expenses of cities. Other revenue comes from cigaret tax, fuel, intangible and other taxes.

The drop in taxes used by the foundation program will mean that if the state cannot furnish 60 per cent of the school revenue, that schools depending entirely on this program will have to close or teachers will have to work without pay.

Detreich further stated that there is enough money now to pay for notes issued for September, but for December distribution of notes there are no funds to back the notes.

He stated that this deficit borrowing by school boards in lieu of cash had cost school districts more in interest than all the money spent for textbooks in a year.

There is a possibility that there might be a special session of the legislature, and if so and if it would re-enact the fuel and cigaret taxes which will expire next spring that there would be funds to pay for the December notes sent to school boards by the state foundation program, he continued.

He spoke of the work of the state department of education, and emphasized that there should be more vocational work in the schools, more vocational guidance and more social sciences. He told of the part the home plays in training children, and said that the home must carry the biggest load in the development of character and citizenship of the children.

Coffee Pot Boils Over; Free Gas Kills Sleeping Woman.

CINCINNATI —(INS)— A coffee pot which boiled over received the blame today for the death of Lillian Moon, 30, who was found in her gas-filled apartment after being missed since Oct 10.

Police said the woman apparently had put a coffee pot on her gas stove and then fell asleep while waiting for it to boil. The water evidently boiled over extinguishing the flame and allowing the free gas to fill the room.

FILE PROTESTS AT CRESTLINE

Residents on Two Streets Present Dust Complaints With Council.

CRESTLINE—A lengthy discussion regarding the condition of Union and Cross streets was held when a number of residents of those streets appeared at the regular meeting of city council Monday evening.

Mayor Waldbauer presided for the meeting. The above streets were recently resurfaced and covered with a coating of fine stone and various complaints were raised about dust and dirt from the streets. Council made a motion to have a light solution of A. C. B. placed on the streets to settle the dust, for the present and later plans are to have a top coating of asphalt. The work will be done as soon as Contractor Demer of Tiffin, who fixed the streets in the beginning can handle the work.

Council also passed an ordinance levying the special assessment for the improvement of Union and Cross streets.

A. T. Wright was present regarding the cost of installing the curb and gutter at the side of his property on Henry street, this matter was to be checked by the finance committee.

Mrs. Charles Rediker was also in attendance at the meeting regarding the cementing of the space between the sidewalk and the curbing at her property on North Seltzer street. This matter was referred to the sidewalk committee.

A report was made of the general tax received from the county auditor, C. C. Metzger, $6,942.48 of which was placed in the general fund; $3,681.10 in the bond retirement fund, $1,250 in the motor vehicle fund and $998.30 for sales tax.

The pay ordinance amounting to $790.07 was allowed

All members were present except Charles Kindinger.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest imaginable relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never be without it in your home, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

URGE BOARD TO HALT CLASSES FOR COLORED

Delegations Claim Segregation of Pupils at Bowman Is 'Discrimination.'

Eight representatives of Labor's Non-Partisan league and the Colored Citizens' league last night asked the Mansfield board of education to abolish the special classes which have been conducted for colored pupils at the Bowman Street school since 1922.

Appearing at the board's meeting in a delegation, members of the group said they considered the segregation of colored pupils at the Bowman school as "race discrimination" and were acting on authority of the organizations they represented in asking that the classes be discontinued.

Willard Pearson was spokesman for the Colored Citizens' league and M. J. Beery for Labor's Non-Partisan league. Pearson submitted a petition which he said was signed by 27 parents of colored pupils in the school.

Learning that no member of the committee had children in the Bowman school, H. W. Arlin, president of the school board, suggested that the group call a meeting of parents of colored pupils to discuss their complaints with Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller.

The board agreed, however, to give the complaints further study.

Miller pointed out that the colored pupils who have three colored teachers actually received more attention than the white pupils since there are fewer colored pupils in the classes.

He added that closing of the rooms for colored pupils would mean dismissal of their teachers. He said it would be out of the question for the board to adopt the suggestion of the delegation that the colored teachers be permitted to teach mixed classes.

The special classes were established in three rooms at the Bowman school because that school has more colored pupils than any other in the city

TESTS PUMPER

State Engineer Checks City's New $8,400 Fire Truck.

Mansfield's new $8,400 fire engine was to undergo the fire underwriters tests this afternoon before H. J. Manning of Columbus, engineer for the state fire inspection bureau.

At noon the new pumper was taken to the North Main street waterworks station where a three-hour pumping test was started under the direction of Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger.

If approved by the inspection bureau, Seeburger said, the truck would be placed in service immediately. It will be housed at the central station and one of the other pumpers will be moved to station No. 4.

CHECK THREE MINOR FIRES

Central Station Firemen Called to Two Homes and Garage.

Firemen from Central station were called to check three minor fires yesterday, none of which resulted in any serious damage, they reported.

Shortly after noon they went to the home of J. Hergatt, 73 Park avenue east, to extinguish a fire in a shed believed to have been started by boys. Less than two hours later they were called to the R. E. Moorhead garage on West Second street to put out a fire in a sewer believed to have been started when a match was accidentally dropped

At 9:25 p. m. they answered a call to the home of R. S. Bookman, 16 North Adams street, when a fire of unknown origin started in the basement. They reported no damage.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Too Curious

Curiosity of Billy Chandler, 5, of Wichita, Kan., resulted in death for his father. The father, who had been hunting, was struck full in the face by the discharge from a 410-gauge shotgun which he had placed against the car and which Billy touched. This picture was made shortly after the shooting when Billy's mother explained to him "what happened to dad."

ACCEPT ENTRIES

Gasoline Dealers Get Ready for Halloween Parade.

Entries of both groups and individuals who will compete for prizes in the Mardi Gras parade Halloween night, Oct. 31, will be accepted until the eleventh hour, the Gasoline Retailerrs association of Richland county, which is sponsoring the event, announced today.

While pointing out that all entrants must be registered to be eligible for prizes, the association said no deadline has been set for entries.

Registrations may be made with Eugene Linham at the Texaco filling station, Adams and Park avenue east, or with Thomas Butts at the Pure Oil station, Rowland and Fourth street.

The parade, which is scheduled to move at 7:30, will form at the intersection of Park avenue west and North Mulberry street.

Three dances have been planned by the committee which will take over the Grosvenor, the Delano lodge and the Moose dance halls for that night.

Sponsors Party — The Mothersingers of Hedges school Parent-Teacher association will sponsor a benefit card party Friday in the Hedges annex. Proceeds will be used to send the Mothersingers to the state P.T.A. meeting in Columbus.

Army Officer Who Turned Spy Names Dictator's Personal Representative at Trial.

emn as court opened, Miss Hofmann, unworried and gay, chatted with a courtroom artist. She wore a two-tone brown sweater and skirt, alligator shoes and light stockings.

Rumrich, no longer seated with the other defendants since his guilty plea, was brought in after the others.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Lester Dunnigan reopened his examination by directing Rumrich's attention to his previous testimony—that he had been in communication with one—Sanders, in Germany, and had been paid $40 for furnishing a list of officers at an army base.

Rumrich testified that Sanders asked for two catalogues listing army and navy officers. He wrote to the government printing office and obtained the catalogues, he said.

In another communication Sanders scolded the defendant for his delay in obtaining secret information. Rumrich admitted that he had claimed to have valuable contacts which he actually did not have.

"In this kind of work you have to be prompt," Sanders wrote him and reminded the promises to deliver had not been kept.

In April, 1937, five or six months after the scolding letter, Rumrich heard agains from Sanders. The German wanted to know what had happened and asked if Rumrich was willing to keep on supplying information.

Rumrich replied that Sanders' last letter—all but the first communication from the mysterious agent were postmarked in the metropolitan area — was too brusque in tone, Rumrich asked, too, for "assurance of some financial support" from Sanders.

Prosecutor Dunnigan placed especial emphasis on that portion of Rumrich's testimony involving the German war ministry. Rumrich said:

"He (Sanders) said he would have to take up my request with the war ministry."

Dunnigan promptly obtained a reiteration:

"Did he say war ministry?"

"Yes, sir," insisted Rumrich.

"He was definite? He used the term, 'war ministry'?"

"Yes, sir."

A year ago, Rumrich added, Sanders gave him a new address to which stolen secrets should be addressed — Fraulein Gisella Schwele, Gneisenau 26, Hamburg, Germany.

HONORS PILOTS

Richmond, Ind., Plan Parade For Endurance Flyers.

RICHMOND, Ind. —(U.P.)— Richmond prepared a gigantic parade today for Russ Morris and Bob McDaniels, 24-year-old pilots, who lived six days and five nights in the cramped quarters of a small monoplane to set a new unofficial world endurance record for light airplanes.

They took off at 7 a. m. Wednesday, stayed aloft over Indiana and Ohio for 130 hours and 10 minutes, and landed at Richmond field at 5:10 p. m. yesterday They broke by 24 hours and 10 minutes a record of 106 hours set last summer by two Syracuse, N. Y., aviators.

DIES PROBERS SUMMON MARTIN

U. A. W. President to Testify in Un-American Inquiry.

DETROIT—(AP)—Homer Martin, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, was subpoenaed today to appear in Washington Friday before the Dies committee investigating un-American activity.

During recent factional troubles in the UAW, Martin charged persons opposing him had conspired with Communists to seize control of the union, and in turn his opponents charged he was dominated by the leader of a Communist party offshoot group.

ACCEPTS RESIGNATION

The Mansfield board of education last night accepted the resignation of Paul Winters, industrial arts teacher at John Simpson Junior high school, and employed Hobart Lime, 21 Flint street, to replace him. Winters resigned to accept a position in the Euclid school. Lime was a substitute teacher in the junior high school last year.

4 LAND IN JAIL AFTER ACCIDENT

Woman and 3 Men, Unable to Pay, Ordered to Serve Out $60 in Fines.

Four persons were in jail today, two on charges of disorderly conduct and the other two for intoxication as the result of an automobile accident Sunday.

Arraigned in municipal court yesterday, Carl Baker, 48, and his wife, Florence, 42, of 277 East Second street, pleaded guilty to the conduct charge and were fined $25 and costs each.

Walter Weber, 51, of the same address and Charles McMullen, 41, 270 Park avenue east, charged with intoxication, were each fined $10 and costs when they pleaded guilty. Unable to pay they were committed to the county jail.

Deputy Sheriffs Glenn P. Freeman and Joseph Hetler arrested the quartet Sunday afternoon near Little Washington after their car had left the highway. The officers testified that when they went to the scene Baker and his wife became "unruly."

JAPS CAPTURE YANGSIN CITY

Vital Chinese Defense Area Falls In Bitter Fight.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— The Japanese army tonight announced capture of the Yangsin, vital Chinese defense position 50 miles east of the Hankow-Canton railway, culminating a bitter 84-day drive up the Yangtze river from Kiukiang.

Yangsin was the center of Chinese defenses southeast of Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital, and its fall would put the invaders in a position to smash toward Sienning and cut the Hankow-Canton railway, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's principal supply line.

PROFS TO SPEAK

2 Cincinnati Men to Address Physicians Here Tomorrow.

Two professors from the medical school of the University of Cincinnati will speak at the fourth session of the Ohio State Medical association's regional post-graduate course at 7 p. m. Wednesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, the lecture committee announced today.

Speakers will be Dr. A. Graeme Mitchell, who will talk on "Treatment of More Common Contagious Diseases," and Dr. Waldo E. Nelson, whose topic will be "Tuberculosis In Infancy."

Wives of Mansfield physicians will entertain the wives of visiting physicians at a card party at the hotel during the lecture session.

Physicians and their wives from 10 counties in Northcentral Ohio have been invited to attend the meeting.

To Appear Younger See Your Doctor

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1938.

The Nobel committee may start a war of words when it bestows this year's peace prize.

It's a merry dance in southeastern Europe, since Chamberlain handed Hitler the head of Czechoslovakia on a platter.

Yes, if we're going to "dump" surplus farm stuff we'd better give Americans the benefit of it instead of foreigners; but it's a delicate business.

Hostile Minorities.

GOOD Americans do not want to be illiberal, but have to defend themselves and their liberties. Good Americans do not tyrannize over minorities, but we have minorities today that are going too far.

Walter Lippmann, who has been seeing at close range how destructive minorities work in foreign countries, and what democracies abroad have to do to protect themselves, makes the principle very clear. "Totalitarian revolutionists" operating within a democracy, he points out, may lose election after election and yet keep on trying. But "if the democracy loses one election, it can never try again." Once the autocrats get into the saddle, they stay there by using their power to break down the remaining strength of democracy.

For this reason the European democracies nearest our own free type have gone farther than most Americans realize in self-defense. Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, France, Switzerland and England have been prohibiting private political armies, party militias, political uniforms, and the use of symbols representing semi-military and revolutionary organizations. France, England and Belgium forbid military training by unauthorized persons, also propaganda inciting hatred.

Some of the groups operating in this country today would not be tolerated over there.

Problem of Youth.

YOUTH'S basic problem today, says a woman educator, is not sex nor the economic situation, but an answer to the current by-word, "So what?" The growing boys and girls, she insists, must have an antidote for their cynicism, and "it is up to the parents to develop a worth-while philosophy of living in their children."

It is hard, though, to develop any living faith in a generation of children who feel insecure and superfluous. In millions of cases, as they come to an age at which they should be engaged in constructive work and taking care of themselves, they are stalled in forced idleness. They naturally grow restless and discontented, feel that they are not wanted, and lose hope and ideals.

Surely the remedy for this state of mind, and the aimless drifting it invites, is to get the boys and girls a definite, constructive share in the social order by providing jobs for them. If that were done by our floundering society, they would do the rest for themselves.

Our young people need, first of all, to use their energies and make a place for themselves in our social order. Getting useful employment for them is the most important thing for them and for the rest of us.

Happiness In Italy.

A STORY in yesterday's News-Journal related that Joseph Bonfiglio, The News-Journal's Ashland correspondent, visiting in Sicily and Italy, had found that Mussolini, who wouldn't have a ghost of a chance over here, is pretty well liked over there.

Much of that may be hard for Americans to believe.

Yet last week in Cleveland, a veteran Associated Press correspondent, back in this country after spending nine years "covering" Mussolini and Italy, said about the same thing. That correspondent was Andrue Berding, whose name has often appeared over Associated Press dispatches from Rome, in The News-Journal.

Bonfiglio and Berding both stressed the same thing. That was that living conditions had improved under Mussolini.

That may constitute a large part part of the reason why Mussolini is generally well-liked by Italians.

Most anyone can put up with a lot of varied inconveniences if he can live more comfortably, have more leisure and less worry as to his well-being.

We're constantly seeking better living conditions over here—and ours are far superior to the Italian average.

So it's entirely possible that Italians really are happier with Mussolini than they were before him.

But we'll probably continue to be fairly happy without him over here.

A Progressive Step.

NO one actually likes to go to a hospital, unless he be a very strange person indeed. Most of us prefer to escape the necessity of such visits.

Nevertheless, there is a certain degree of comfort in knowing that one's hospital measures up to strict standards—that it is as good as a hospital can be in those respects. It is like having unlimited confidence in one's doctor.

For that reason, it should give Mansfielders pleasure to note that General hospital now stands on the "unconditionally approved" list of the American College of Surgeons, as the result of meeting certain standard requirements set by the College.

Among those are adequate and efficient personnel, a modern plant, competent supervision, adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities and one other—namely, "a humanitarian spirit, a primary consideration in the care of the patient."

Yes, if you have to go to a hospital, it's better to go to one meeting those specifications. And it's good to have one that does meet them in Mansfield.

Do people prefer charity to work? Well, when Washington, D. C., wanted cleaning women for public buildings, 2,500 responded, many of them waiting all night before the doors.

This is the time of year when nothing looks so beautiful as Nature, except the latest model car.

Observing what these various "ideologies" are doing to nations, we'd rather go by astrology.

Keeping Step

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It is a safe bet that the fate of Czechoslovakia promoted President Roosevelt's good neighbor policy as much in a short time as could have been accomplished by 10 years of conferences.

It has dawned on at least one of the Latin American republics that it is nice to live on this side of the ocean where the little nations do not need to fear that four large nations will sit around a table and divide them up, with radio accompaniment. The last time anybody was divided up on this continent was in 1903 when the United States had a hand in breaking Panama off from Colombia to facilitate acquiring a right of way for the Panama Canal.

Elie Lescot, minister to the United States from the Negro republic of Haiti, called at the state department immediately after the Czechoslovak shouting was over to tell Acting Secretary Sumner Welles how grand his nation felt at being so far away from Europe. Over here, Haiti is safe enough. Off the coast of Europe it might be just another colony to be fought over.

Patent Office Flooded, Too.

The New England storm and flood brought a storm of flood of applications to the patent office for patents on life-saving devices and storm signals. It happens every time. It is the same way with a war. The mails bring in designs for trick bullets, tank trap devices, and soldiering gadgets of every description.

The patent office is patient enough. Never can tell when a jig of tremendous national importance might come out of some barn-loft shop. The odds are against it these days, because life is so complex that it takes a technologist in a fancy laboratory to do much now.

The patent office never makes public the nature of any design sent in for patent until the patent is granted. There is a law against it. But to merit any consideration at all, the device must propose some useful service. For that reason the office never would patent a poison-carrying bullet or a projectile for spreading disease germs. The United States would not use such a device in a war, and it would have no legitimate use in peace times.

Washington on the Spot.

So many tourists put their fingers on the city of Washington in a big map of the U. S. hanging in the Library of Congress that they wore a hole through the map, through its cardboard backing and into the wall behind it. The library lately replaced the map with a new one.

And did you know that:

The government has begun to train its radio voices, it has so much business on the air. First class is in connection with a WPA bureau of education job in New York. . . . The upcoming ambassador from China, Hu Shih, is his country's foremost modern poet . . . he hasn't been accepted here yet, but will be . . . Hirosi Saito, retiring Japanese ambassador, also has done a bit of poetizing but more translating of American poetry into Japanese . . . he didn't like the old translation of Poe's "The Raven" and did a better one now used generally in Japanese schools . . . The White House flies no flag when the President is away, not even if Mrs. Roosevelt is there.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Oct. 18, 1918.

Fred W. Denzler, sales manager of the Mansfield Sheet and Tin Plate company, was one of nine to die in Mansfield from influenza in a 24-hour period.

Ensign Edward Loughridge, of the U. S. naval flying corps, returned to Pensacola, Fla., after a vacation spent with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Loughridge, North Mulberry street.

Daniel V. Long, who had resided in Newark for several years, returned to Mansfield to make his home.

Announcement made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuss, 44 Glessner avenue.

Howard Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harding, West Third street, received a lieutenant's commission at Camp Upton.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1933.

The Empire Steel company plant was purchased by Mansfield and Cleveland re-organizers at auction for $600,000.

Leo O. Sweval fell 25 feet from roof of courthouse to stone paving, sustaining severe injuries.

Harry Constance was elected commander of the McLaughlin Post, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war.

Mansfield and county officers went to Akron to attend liquor control meeting.

Teachers Wives club had a masquerade party at the home of Mrs. William Freeman, Little Washington.

Problem In Counter-Espionage

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Now that President Roosevelt has put the seal of his approval upon the proposed campaign against foreign spying in the United States the chances are that a formidable fight will be made in the next congress for creation of a far-flung anti-espionage organization. Indeed, Representative Martin Dies already has promised to introduce the necessary legislation.

I don't think Dies is being taken very seriously, but presidential backing probably will introduce some ginger into his plan. However, there are certain objections to the establishment of such a body of counter-spyers as the president and the Texas representative hint at.

One is that the tales we hear of any sort of effective foreign espionage in this country are the bunk. If there were enough of it to endanger us our army and navy departments assuredly would at least suspect it. Contrariwise, their respective officialdoms give stories of it the laugh. They agree that there are agents in our midst who sell information to overseas governments, but all their best opinion is to the effect that these agents get their dope from published reports, available to anyone at 25 to 20 cents per pamphlet. It is conceded that, perhaps, their old world employers should prosecute them for obtaining pay by false pretenses—selling counterfeit "secrets," that is to say. But genuine stuff?—phooey!

* * *

Spies' Secret Sources.

There is a rather expensive volume, issued periodically, known as "Jane's Fighting Ships," which describes the world's navies in much detail and pretty reliably. Any spy who gets that book (all well-equipped libraries have it on tap) can frame up a pretty good "secret report."

Some years ago the U. S. Navy perfected a mysterious listening-in "gadget" which, installed, for instance, on the island of Guam, would keep us informed as to Japanese naval movements. Gosh!—but that was a confidential thing! That is, it was confidential until, one day, the congressional naval affairs committee was questioning an old admiral, and the admiral, forgetting that it was a secret, told all about it, and every newspaper in the nation explained it minutely. It was a great occasion for foreign spies.

More recently we were building a new battleship. It was the last word in secrecy. In due course the navy department, issuing a report to be broadcast by the government printing office, accidentally included every imaginable blueprint of that ship, which the printing office faithfully reproduced. It's for sale at half a dollar per issue. Again, for international spies, "Score 1."

Aside from the foolishness of the counter-espionage game, the average American doesn't like the idea of an "OGPU" or a "Gestapo" set up here.

These's a sound basis for this objection.

Our army and navy "intelligences" never have interfered in civil life. They may have their military utility. The treasury's secret service is O. K. at catching counterfeiters and protecting the president. Post office inspectors are all right at defending the sanctity of the mails.

The justice department's investigatorial bureau hasn't so clean a record.

Under J. Edgar Hoover it has performed creditably. But in William J. Burns' time, during the period of the oil scandals, it certainly was smeared. It was accused of rifling senators' desks. It was convicted by trying to frame a case against Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. Its chief inquisitor, Gaston Means, still is doing time in prison.

* * *

Economy? Efficiency? Maybe.

President Roosevelt suggests that a merger of the secret services could be effected, to the advantage of efficiency, and without increased cost, by a combination of state department, justice department, treasury department, army and navy activities. He doesn't mention the post office, but this fits in, too.

It's a nice thing that it won't cost any more.

It has other possible disadvantages, however.

Timely Editorial

NEW AIR SAFETY DEVICE

Not much publicity has been given announcement of a new flying device which is soon to be put in use by commercial air lines. But it is being hailed by many aviation authorities as one of the most significant and valuable innovations yet invented.

It is an "absolute altimeter" which registers the exact height of the plane above the ground or the highest obstacle below it, whereas the barometic type gave the altitude above sea level only. The importance of the new instrument is that it is said to virtually end the danger of ships "flying blind" crashing into mountain sides, grazing the tops of cliffs, trees, etc., all of which have been a frequent cause of some of civil aviation's most shocking tragedies. It is believed that it will immensely simplify the landing and navigation of planes.

While the instrument has worked uniformly well, it still is undergoing rigid tests leading to complete perfection.

If these turn out as anticipated, it is likely that one of the worst dangers to air navigation is on the way to being overcome.—Columbus Dispatch

Circulatory System, Its Functions.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN THE Century of Progress building of the Chicago Exposition of a year or two ago there was a transparent man on exhibition. It was a glass figure in the form of the human body, and all the organs, blood vessels and nerves could be seen through the body walls. There was, however, one feature of anatomical curiosity which made it entirely different from real life. There was no movement.

If a living human being could suddenly be arranged so that all his tissues were transparent, we would be struck first of all by the incessant movement and commotion going on. Most of this would be due to the movements of the circulatory system. The heart would be pumping blood out of its two chambers, one chamber expanding the lungs every second with a fresh burst of blood, the other side shooting blood into all the throbbing arteries of the body.

* * *

We would see the blood corpuscles rapidly moving and crowding out of the arteries into the capillaries and gradually slowing their movements when they enter the veins, and still more slowly making their way back to the heart again.

It is this system which is essential for the distribution of food and oxygen and the many other things the body cells need. In our outline of the function of the body in the articles during the last few weeks, we started with the digestive system because that prepares the food so it can be utilized for energy. Then we took up the respiratory system, which brings into the body the oxygen which burns the food. Later we discussed the blood system, which is the medium in which both these are carried to the cells. Now we come to the circulatory system, which pumps the blood around and distributes the material to all parts of the body.

Goes in Circle.

Circulation comes from a Latin word which means to move in a circle. Accordingly, we must follow the blood in its circle in order to understand the process fully. There are four chambers in the heart, the main ones being the centricles, which are hollow muscular organs. From the left one the blood is pumped out first into the arteries and then through the capillaries. In the capillaries it gives up food and oxygen to the cells and takes up waste products, returning to the right ventricle by way of the veins. The right ventricle pumps the blood out to the lungs, where a number of waste products are removed. After returning to the left ventricle, completing the circle, the cycle begins anew.

Besides the systemic and lung circulation there is a third circulation, or one usually counted as such, in the circulation through the liver. All the food products are absorbed in the intestine and most of them are carried by the portal vein directly to the liver. They are left there for the liver to prepare them for reception by the tissues, and the blood moves on into the right side of the heart.

A Farmer's Diary

Boiling Applebutter.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

TWO old Dutch friends of mine were boiling applebutter. I smelled the fragrant wood smoke and saw it curling upward in the crisp morning air. The old man was placing some dry wood under the steaming kettle, while his wife, dressed in a long blue blouse and a sunbonnet, was slowly stirring the heavy mass of cut apples and boiled down cider.

"Good morning," said I.

Startled, they both looked up and greeted me. "Du bist spat. Die bilin' ist half over."

I smiled and took the stirrer handle from my old friend's gnarled hand. As the steam cleared from the top of the kettle, I looked carefully and saw the apples melting into the dark brown cider. "Die schnits er sher biled in," she said, and we both listened to the quick, spattering movements in the huge copper kettle.

I kept the bottom from burning by constant contact with the stirring stick, while the old man, in tattered overalls and faded flannel shirt, cut wood. The work was hard for him. The constant drop upon his nose was frequently wiped off with his rough old fingers. The old lady came several times with a ladle and skimmed the froth and if it looked as though the stuff was rising and would soon boil over, I called, and she would hurry out with a large piece of homemade butter and drop it quickly into the seething mass, to still the troubled contents.

Finally she came with a long-handled copper dipper and took a sample from the kettle, let it cool, and poured it slowly into another vessel to test the size of drops. When she was satisfied, the old man and I took a long pole, placed it under the bail and on our shoulders, and so lifted the heavy cauldron from the fire.

Twelve gallon crocks, brimful, I poured—and carried the applebutter to the kitchen. My two old friends thanked me for my help, and gave me a full gallon for my labor.

The 'Just-a-Big-Boy-at-Heart' Racket.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Wonder who initiated this notion that all men are "just great, big boys at heart." Whoever did certainly started something beside which the numbers racket is a mere game of parchesi.

I haven't interviewed Dr. Einstein or Father Divine on the subject, nor can I quote Rockefeller Center or the Marx Brothers. But as a lone kibitzer, I'll venture to say this "Big Boy" gag is responsible for more devilment and demoralization than any bunco game since the original Apple Eating Contest.

Like all rackets, it listens lovely at the start. What could be easier on the ear than to have some Angelic Eyeful coo, "You're just Mama's precious-big-bad babikns!" . . . when you know doggoned well that you've acted like a whole cage of gorillas and should be handled accordingly? But do you agree with the Lady? Boy you roll and bark! And then rush right out and buy her that star sapphire bracelet.

* * *

"So then you are married and live happily ever after"—huh? ANYTHING BUT! To the contrary, you then proceed to distrust and despise each other with increasing vim and venom! For there is only one thing more bitter than the inevitable wrath of the Man who falls for the "Big Boy" line, and that is—the contempt of the woman who helped him fall!

Am I funning? I am not. Of all the corny con-games by which Men and Women have schemed to put each other on the spot, none has aroused more anger and suspicion, self-pity, resentment and hate, than this so-seemingly tender come-on.

The simple truth is this, no normal adult male is, or should wish to be "just a great big boy at heart." His independence and maturity are a real man's pride. He doesn't want to be anybody's "precious babikins," least of all the presumably fragile lil' flower in his home den.

* * *

Then why does he fall for the idea—and actually coax it along? For exactly the same reason that the man who's in for a murder rap will gladly be rated as an idiot—IT'S CONVENIENT. Obviously, neither "precious babikins" nor idiots can be held responsible for their acts or expected to face the consequences. Be their deeds however heinous, they are rated as helpless blunderers, in need of a firm and guiding hand.

Which is where Angelic Eyefull enters the plot. Never was there a Female (including myself) who did not believe that she was divinely ordained, not only to bear the Male, but to boss him forever after. Hence the "Great Big Boy" line. If it's convenient for a Gentleman to be considered helpless, it's a hundred-fold more so to his Lady Wife. The less his power, the greater her pride. Maybe he's a Big Shot to the boys at the office, but he's just a Toddling Tyke to the Missis.

* * *

And yet—oh, female inconsistency! she despises and resents those very qualities she cultivates. For, side by side with her yen to boss, goes her yearning to Be Bossed. It may serve her conceit to have a Mere Male on leash—but oh, how she longs for a masterful brute who'll yank her around! Consider the millions of ladies who still sigh at the memory of "The Shiek!"

And, silly as it seems, there's a reason. Female Conceit may want captives BUT BIOLOGY NEEDS MEN. Why does Mrs. Henpeck loathe her meek, bewildered mate though he serves her every whim—and wail that he has "cheated" her? Because by biology's reckoning, she has been cheated out of her rightful lord 'n' master.

And by the same token, why does the average husband so furiously resent being called a "little boy"—even though he uses it for many a slick alibi. For an identical reason . . . he SHOULDN'T be a little boy—and he should promptly sock anyone who calls him one. But suppose he does stand up and admit he's responsible for his acts—what then?

Wotta mess! And all because they dassn't face or live the truth!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Ever since reading George Jean Nathan's "The Morning After the First Night" I've been attending plays and scrutinizing the reviews next day with more than usual care. In these after thoughts on the theater Mr. Nathan is inclined to chide his fellow critics for a lack of honesty in reporting certain aspects of the Broadway premieres.

For instance, he points out, a certain star on opening night arrived before the footlights so tanked on gin that he was unable to remember his lines. Next day the reviewers excused these mental lapses with the convenient explanation that the actor had only recently recovered from a long illness and no doubt he would soon settle down and become his usual reliable self. Nathan went on to say that the actor hadn't been ill at all, and he wonders why a simple statement of fact wouldn't be better than long and involved lies.

On another occasion an actress of more than usual merit also opened in a play and she was so highly alcoholized that she was in distress most of the evening. This likewise was brushed aside being due to nervous reaction, or something. Any number of similar incidents are recalled by Nathan, who feels that any actor or actress who comes up to an opening night senselessly intoxicated isn't entitled to protection from the newspaper reviewers.

* * *

Mr. Nathan is on record also as believing the New York critics, of which he is one, are a gullible lot, and parades a stream of incidents as evidence of this fact. He recalls the time where smart press-agents began spreading the happy tidings that a certain Chinese playwright, one S. I. Hsiung, was no less a person than "Shakespeare of the Chinese theater." At that time "Lady Precious Stream" by this author was to be produced, and the critics wrote prose sonnets to the genius of this great Oriental Bard. As a matter of record, Nathan declares, Mr. Hsiung was merely a nice, gentle soul devoted to the theater, but so little a part of it that he was scarcely known in his native land.

* * *

Perhaps the most classic example of this gullibility, as Nathan expresses it, came when the Theatre guild produced one of Mr. Eugene O'Neill's dramas. The press-agents primed the critics with suggestion that they observe how firm a grasp Mr. O'Neill had on his subject, how surely he approached his objective, how sharply defined his plot and characters were.

After the premiere certain reviewers noted the new maturity in Mr. O'Neill's craftsmanship, and lauded it accordingly. Later it was learned that, in writing this play, Mr. O'Neill had moved steadily down-hill, that is, he had written away from his climax and to correct this fallacy, the guild had taken it upon itself to reverse order of the acts and produce the play backwards.

What Mr. O'Neill's reaction to this was I do not know, though the guild hardly would have dared this liberty without his permission. Nor do I know what the critics themselves think of Mr. Nathan's essays on these aspects of the New York theater.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Lock, Stock and Barrel."

"Lock, stock and barrel,"—the epitome and apotheosis of all-inclusiveness!

The expression is not intrinsically an American colloquialism, favored by sportsmen; indeed, it is good, old-fashioned British idiom which emigrated with the colonists.

"Lock, stock and barrel" originated in England, where it was used in armament manufactories of the assembled gun or rifle.

Because of its aptness, the application of the phrase widened, so that it came to connote "everything"—the complete contents and furnishings of a home, for instance, or all the livestock of a farm, that was offered for sale.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

PHILOMATHIAN CLUB TO MEET TOMORROW

Mrs. C. P. Siegenthaler Hostess for First Session of Study Group; Activities of Winter Planned by Committee.

WITH the first meeting of the Philomathian club scheduled for tomorrow at the home of Mrs. C. P. Siegenthaler, 641 Forest Hill road, programs for the coming year were distributed recently, and plans were made public today. Mrs. Fred Hout, associate member of the club, will present the first paper which is entitled "Present Economic Trends."

A wide variety of study and social programs are planned including the first November meeting at which time members will all give talks on items of interest. The talks will include papers on many topics from the stock market to music, and from child psychology to pronunciation.

"Christmas Facts and Fancies" is the title of the paper which Mrs. Oliver Henkel will present on Nov. 16, and for the last date in the month the members will all give short book reviews.

Mrs. Otis Cummins will give a paper on "Motion Picture Research" at the last meeting preceding the Christmas party which will be held Dec. 21 at Mrs. Paul Stephens' home on Bartley avenue. For the first meeting of the new year Mrs. Martin Brunner will speak on "Lloyds of London." "Bermuda" is the subject chosen by Mrs. Siegenthaler. Early in February Mrs. E. K. Bacon will read a play before the entire group at the home of Miss Elizabeth Albers.

Some of the other topics for the year's study are "Williamsburg" by Mrs. Lewis Hartman, "Editorials" by Mrs. Louis J. Ott, "Criminal Lawyers" by Mrs. Donald Black, and "History of Dress" by Miss Kathleen Sturges. The final meeting of the year will be a family picnic May 31. Mrs. Tom Ford, Mrs. Henkel, Mrs. Hout and Miss Dorothy Herring will be the hostesses.

This program was prepared by Miss Ardis Linzee, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Hartman. Officers for the current year are Mrs. Thornton Moore, president; Miss Martha King, vice-president; Mrs. Siegenthaler, secretary, and Mrs. Brunner, treasurer.

Study Group Tour Mansfield Tire Co.

Following a change in program, members of the Little Flower Study club toured the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company plant last night where they were shown the complete process of production from the raw rubber to the finished tire by J. F. Daley and L. J. Smith. Mrs. Daley and Miss Nell Carrigan were the hostesses and the members adjourned to Mrs. Daley's home, 470 West Third street, after the tour.

Miss Veronica Hanley, hostess, was in charge of the business meeting. Plans were made for the next session which was advanced from Oct. 1 to Nov. 2. Mrs. Marion Downs, 423 Chevy Chase road, will be hostess for the meeting which will be a Halloween masquerade party. Mrs. Joseph Kuebler will speak on "The Crisis of Civilization" by Hilaire Belloc.

* * *

ANNUAL BANQUET.

The annual pal banquet of the Amoma class of St. Matthew's Lutheran church will be held tonight at the Adario Lutheran church. Mrs. Russell Harbaugh, Mrs. O. H. Redhair, Mrs. Edward Schmidd and Mrs. Pearl Perrine are the hostesses, and requested that members meet at the Mansfield church at 5:30 p. m.

TO ENTERTAIN CLASS.

Miss Edna Eckert, 299 South Main street, will be hostess Friday evening to members of the Gleaners' class of the United Brethren church.

Members Talk On 'Citizenship' At Central M.E. Guild

"Good Citizenship" was the general discussion topic for the meeting of the Central Methodist Episcopal church guild last night. Mrs. M. R. Guiher, 313 Ruth avenue, was hostess to the 31 members and she was assisted by Mrs. C. R. Kingsbury, Mrs. J. Roelof, Mrs. Paul Schultz and Mrs. Virt Simpson.

Mrs. Alfred Barker gave the first paper on "The Way People Are Thinking." She was followed by Mrs. L. F. Rondel who gave a talk, "Why Do They Let Us Run It?" "The 100% American," by Mrs. Ray Paulson, and "What Surprised Me About Congress," by Mrs. Kenneth Day, were the concluding talks.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Simpson, and Miss Evangeline White and Miss Maude Cunningham gave missionary current events. The next meeting will be Nov. 21 with Mrs. M. L. Erick, Maumee avenue, hostess.

Entertain 18 Friends at Ninth Birthday Party

There were 18 friends present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Firmin McCune, 109 Helen avenue, yesterday afternoon for a party given in celebration of their daughter Beatrice's ninth birthday anniversary. Halloween decorations were used, and the table was centered with a birthday cake. Each guest was given a favor, games were played and Woneta Bellevue played several accordion numbers.

* * *

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. George Franklin, Ashland road, was hostess last night to members of the Pioneer club when a party was given in celebration of Mrs. Sadie Adams' birthday. A birthday cake centered the table at which the hostess served a two-course luncheon to the surprise party guests. Contests were won by Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. Orel Brown, Mrs. William Bell and Mrs. Manuel Lambright.

BUY LARGE BLANKETS.

When you buy blankets for your home, choose those big enough to come well up over your shoulders, tuck in securely at the foot of the bed, and tuck in or hang over at the sides. Fine blankets are at least 84 inches long and some are 90. Widths vary from 66 inches for narrow or twin beds, to 72 inches for three-quarter or full-sized beds. Those 80 inches wide are really luxurious.

SHEER EVENING JACKETS.

PARIS—(AP)—Among new sheer evening packets is a tailleur style inb lack net covered over with flower appliques of different colored velvets puffed up a bit like real petals. Brilliantly colored spangles make a leaf or petal here and there. Chanel is showing these.

Hat Styled for Going Places

A hat that can go places all day long and step out again in the evening is made of sober stitched brown felt and trimmed with raspberry-rose and smoke-blue ostrich tips as a flip of frivolity. Howard Hodge designed it to fit the high hair and the career woman's need for a multi-service chapeau.

Announce Federation Meeting At Session of Study Club

DURING the business meeting of the Round Table club which was held at the Women's Club yesterday with Mrs. E. O. Townsend as hostess, the announcement of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs district meeting was read. Mrs. B. L. Chase, president, was elected delegate to the affair which will be held Oct. 27 and 28 at Wooster.

The Rufus Rose Marionette show, which will be given Oct. 28 at Senior high school under the auspices of the P. T. A. council, was also announced.

For the program Mrs. John Cook reviewed the biography, "Fanny Kemble" by Margaret Armstrong. It is the colorful story of the life of the actress both in England and the United States. The book portrays the hardships of Miss Kemble's life, and tells of her study of slavery, and her writings on that subject.

Tea was poured at the close of the meeting by Miss Dorothy Dani. and Mrs. Lois Anson. The next meeting will be a dessert luncheon at 1 p. m. Oct. 31 at the home of Mrs. W. J. Tappan.

Tourists and botanists who today climb the slopes of Mount Pilatus in Switzerland have long forgotten that it was not till the 16th century that anyone approached it. Pilate's ghost was supposed to hover there.

Hostess To Guild For Regular Meet Monday Evening

There were 22 members and two guests, Mrs. F. M. Wadsworth and Miss Genevieve Howell, present for the October meeting of the Grace guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church which was held at the home of Mrs. E. G. Corwin, West Second street. Mrs. E. N. Cooper, Mrs. Paul Early and Miss Dorothy Crawford were the associate hostesses.

Mrs. Eugene Linham led the devotions, and Mrs. Robert Hall spoke on "Out of the Darkness." The topic for study was "The Miracle of Modern India" which Miss Ethel Hughes presented. Miss Howell concluded the program with a piano solo. A social hour followed, and luncheon was served at a table decorated with Halloween appointments.

Two new members, Mrs. Mayme McConoughey and Mrs. Virginia Allen, were accepted. Mrs. S. R. Baird, 581 Crescent road, will entertain Nov. 21.

STATE CONVENTION OF O. E. S. PLANNED

Expect 30 Members of Ruth Chapter to Attend Three-Day Conclave of State Organization In Columbus Next Week.

PLANS were made last night at the meeting of the Ruth chapter, Order of Eastern Star, for one of the major meetings in Masonic circles to be held Oct. 25, 26 and 27 in Columbus. The session, which is the state convention of the Grand chapter, Order of Eastern Star of Ohio, will be attended by 25 or 30 members of the Mansfield group.

Although activities will begin Sunday with a religious service, and continue Monday with formal sessions, the grand ball honoring Miss Jessie Naomi Peck, Fostoria, worthy grand matron, Wednesday is considered one of the most spectacular events of the week.

Convention headquarters are the Deshler Wallick hotel, and John G. Keller, Columbus, chairman of arrangements, plans to entertain 5,000 guests next week. Mrs. Josephine Barnes, worthy matron of Ruth chapter, will be the official delegate from Mansfield.

The next meeting of the local group will be held Nov. 7 at the Masonic temple. Officers will be elected at this time.

Halloween Masquerade Held By St. Luke's Class

A Halloween masquerade party and luncheon was the nature of the social meeting of the Daughters of Ruth class of St. Luke's Lutheran church held in the church parlors yesterday. Games and contests were the diversion.

Mrs. Lee Bogan and Mrs. Arthur B. Reese were in charge of arrangements. On Nov. 21 the group will again meet with Mrs. Bogan and Mrs. John H. Cross as hostesses.

SCHEDULE SESSION.

The Alpha Delta Pi City club will meet tomorrow with Mrs. W. W. Workman, Beal road.

Mansfield Women Guests In Canton

Mrs. Regina Gresser, senior regent, Mrs. Elmira Caugherty, graduate senior regent, and Mrs. Bertha Coleman, recorder, and all members of the Mansfield chapter of the Women of the Moose, attended the initiation of the James J. Davis class at the Canton chapter yesterday.

The new ritual was performed by 16 senior regent escorts and the officers of the chapter. After the ceremony there was a reception in honor of Mr. Davis who was the founder of Mooseheart. Those having October birthdays, including Mrs. Gresser, were seated at a large table decorated with a birthday cake. Floral centerpieces were used on the other tables for the serving of the three-course dinner. A program followed the dinner.

Young Man Borrows, Acts Rude

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

This is my sister's story about which I'm writing. She is confidential secretary to the president of an important firm and is a very fine girl, 26 years of age. The family could never discover what she saw in the man to whom she became engaged, but she was crazy about him.

He persuaded her to lend him the money to go through medical school. She gave him half her salary and went without the necessaries of life to do this. He lived in another city and when he came to see sister, didn't impress the family as being in love with her.

Finally, he never wrote unless to demand money. She always sent cash, as he said it wouldn't look well to get checks cashed. When I heard he had been paying devoted attention to a girl in his university town, I persuaded sister to ask for an accounting. He wrote her an abusive and violent letter, said she lacked generosity and was a female Shylock. Please bear in mind, Miss Fairfax, that these remittances were made on the understanding that the money would be returned.

I think his brutal letter opened my sister's eyes, but she has absolutely nothing to show for it, and of course she is completely disillusioned and would not marry this man under any circumstances.

CONFIDANT.

This young man, who was so careful to cover his tracks by declining to accept checks which would be a receipt for the money advanced, stopped being clever when he wrote the abusive letter. And your sister would be most unjust to herself if she did not put the matter in a lawyer's hand and have him deal with this person.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, October 19.

A fairly active and promising day is read from the lunar figures. There seems to be a situation in which feminine influence is to the fore, either in connection with promoting business or in relation to matters of domestic or social well being and comfort. It is probable that the element of secrecy may enter into such co-operation or understanding, or that affairs may profit by such intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly active year in which, however, feminine influence or co-operation may be paramount. Progress may be assured by using such assistance through quiet transactions or secret understandings rather than open agreements or contracts Intrigue may be necessary to gain secret ends.

A child born on this day may be versatile, active and have fine intellectual as well as social qualifications for success and a happy career.

There is an iced rolling pin that keeps dough thoroughly chilled throughout its preparation for baking. It is filled with ice, is easily handled, does not break and does not leak.

Amateur garden makers who have shady spots in their gardens will find much pleasure in the growing of dogtooth violet. The plants have very interesting flowers, three inches across, the colors running from white to yellow and rose, and are attractive even after the flowers have passed because of the richly mottled leaves they bear. If possible, give them a loose, gritty soil, with plenty of leaf mold.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"NO, I can't do that," I told Miss Whitlock in reply to her suggestion that I tell the person at the door we were all in the big suite tonight. "I must give them no excuse for searching an empty room. I shall pretend to be awakened from sleep, and explain your silence by saying that you had a bad headache and went to bed with a sedative. And I will make a pretense of searching all rooms myself."

"Who is there?" I demanded sleepily.

The suave voice of the manager, Mr. Milner, answered me.

"I am so sorry to disturb you, Mrs. Graham," he said, "but one of our guests, a young girl, is missing from her room, and her aunt, who shares her suite, is quite distracted. You see," he lowered his voice discreetly, "the young lady suffers from somnambulism, and although she is carefully watched, she occasionally gets away and wanders all over the hotel. It is most distressing."

"Yes, I can well imagine it would be," I returned. "But—pardon me—why should you think I might be interested at this hour?"

"Because," he answered a bit testily, "we are making a search of every room in the house. We always do. Would you mind my coming in and taking a quick look around?"

"Indeed I should mind!" I returned, with a fine show of indignation. "I never heard of anything so absurd in my life. My niece is so nervous that I have given her a sedative so that she can sleep, and Miss Whitlock, the nurse, is suffering with a bad headache. I could not have them disturbed. Of course the girl is not here. But just to show that I am willing to co-operate with you in every way, I shall take my flashlight immediately and search every crevice in our rooms and closets, to assure you that not even a mouse is here. Please wait a minute.

No "Strange" Woman.

Then, when I had given myself sufficient time for my little bluff, I went back to the door, opened it the lenth of the chain, and spoke quickly to Mr. Milner, who was standing with his head cocked in an attitude of listening.

"I have gone over everything," I said, "and I can assure you that there is no strange young woman here."

He knew that Avis was in our suite. I was suddenly certain of that. When she did not come downstairs at her scheduled time, he must have checked all the vacant rooms on our floor before coming to us.

"I am sorry to have troubled you," he said. "May I ask one more thing? If the young woman should come to your door, will you notify me, please?"

"Of course. Instantly. With pleasure," I returned in heartiest tones. Then I closed the door on another low bow.

I found myself trembling as I crossed the room to Miss Whitlock's suite, and stood still for a minute in order to pull myself together. Then I went steadily across the room, and into the other suite, pulling on the lamp switch when I reached it. Then I picked up a strip of cloth Miss Whitlock had prepared as a gag.

"She started to scream when Mr. Milner came to the door," I said. "What do you think? Would we better gag her?"

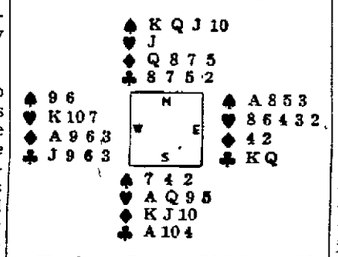
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO GOOD REASONS

POSSESSING TWO suits of equal length, neither of which has been bid by anybody, your choice between them may determine the entire result of your defense against a hostile No Trump contract. Most average players will prefer leading the suit which has the higher honor at its top, but experts usually will choose the other for two reasons. First, all that they have to set up in the second suit is its top card, which usually is better than the second card of the other suit. But more important is the fact that the high card of the better-topped suit constitutes a good entry, whereas the top of the other one is of practically no value in that respect.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

At nearly all tables of a duplicate game, South started the bidding on the deal with 1-Heart. North called 1-Spade, and South wound up in No-Trump, usually at a game bid.

Wherever West led his diamond suit, three-odd were made. Where clubs were led, the declarer was held to two. A mere glance at the hands will show that the diamond A is a very useful side entry to help bring in the last club, whereas the club J has no such value in helping cash the final diamond. Also, by leading clubs, the defender is trying to set up a jack, whereas by leading diamonds he is trying to set up a nine.

Follow the play through yourself and you will find that with the club lead, the defense gets three tricks in clubs, one each in the other suits, whereas with a diamond lead it takes only one trick in each suit.

Restyle Menus For Autumn

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

FALL IN for fall! Restyle your menus along with your clothes. Along with clothes, foods are shown in darker tints, the light green of salads, the pastel tints of aspics and mousses giving way to the darker tints of brown beans, purple eggplant and golden curry. The iced coffee, with its trimming of whipped cream, gives way to fragrant inky-brown coffee, fresh from the pot. So fetch forth the oven dishes and bean pots. Brush up on your new hot-dish recipes, and again, fall in for fall!

Here is a honey of a recipe for baked beans. It requires two cups pea beans, one-quarter teaspoon soda, one small onion (peeled), one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup dark corn syrup, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, two ounces salt pork and one-quarter teaspoon pepper. Soak beans overnight in cold water; in the morning add soda and cook in some water until bean skins start to loosen. Place one-half of pork in bottom of bean pot; add one-half of beans and seasonings; bury onion in beans. Drizzle syrup over top, cover with salt pork and add boiling water slowly until it seeps through beans to the top. Cover; bake in slow oven for four hours, or until liquid is absorbed and the core beans dark and mealy. It fills two-quart bean pot or casserole.

Supper Dish.

Norwegian curry is a swell supper dish which we think you'll like. It needs two cans smoked Norwegian sardines, two tablespoons each butter and minced onion, one-half cup chopped apple, one and one-half tablespoons flour, one-half tablespoon curry powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one-half tablespoon lemon juice and boiled rice. Drain sardines from oil; melt butter. Add onion and apple, browning lightly. Combine flour, curry powder and salt, and blend in to first mixture. Add milk gradually, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sardines, mixing lightly, and lemon juice. Serve on hot boiled rice.

Honey date pudding is a honey of a pudding when you have a date with the family for a nice dessert. Ingredients call for three eggs, three-quarter cup honey, one-half cup all-bran, one-half cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two cups finely-cut dates and one-half cup chopped nut-meats. Beat eggs until light, add honey and bran; mix thoroughly. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; stir into first mixture with dates and nutmeats. Spread mixture in a layer one-half inch thick in greased shallow pan. Bake in 375° F. oven for about 30 minutes. Cut into bars and serve as a pudding with whipped cream.

Eyelids Require Treatment

By MME. QUI VIVE

Eyelids! What of them, beauty watcher? You regard your countenance in the mirror, take inventory. Let us hope that the report is satisfactory, that all is well. But whatever you do, watch those eye curtains.

The settings of the eyes should be firm tissue, bear no creases that shouldn't rightly be there. In youth they are like that. If the beauty seeker knows her lessons and acts accordingly they will stay that way.

To forestall tissue wreckage which may be on the way, keep the eyelids and surrounding flesh well oiled. Every night rub in an eye cream or if you haven't any at hand the good old cold cream jar will produce. Place the first finger on the eyelid close to the nose, sweep outward, do a quick circle, come back under the eye to the starting point. Let the cream remain on overnight.

In the morning use cold water freely, run to the kitchen for an ice cube, frisk it over the skin surface.

Avoid strong lights. To protect the optic mechanism, the eye curtains are drawn and too much activity on their part will furrow the flesh with fine lines. If dark glasses are worn they should be carefully selected under the supervision of an occulist.

When powdering your face don't swish the pad over the lids. Instead, apply a light film of vaseline; it sticks better than most creams, is a thinner substance, and puts on a grand shine. Lubricated lids make the eyes look dewey and I have been told that there is nothing like dewey eyes to make the masculine heart go pit-a-pat.

Notes From a Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

The store is ever so busy and the workroom is just rushed to death, with all the customers wanting their new clothes. There are several wedding orders and then there are the clothes for Consuelo's new show. But, somehow, everything will be done on time and everone placated.

I am glad that we had no formal opening and that we haven't been doing any fashion shows. Instead of one opening, we have been serving tea every afternoon, with models promemading all over the store. Our customers seem to like this arrangement; several of them have been in more than once and have ordered on sight, something that they could not do at a formal opening.

It is difficult to resist the new clothes, and I enjoy showing and selling them, or even just handling them. We have been selling a lot of colorful ensembles and dresses done in light shades, and richly-furred coats. My favorite is a lime-green, very thin woolen that is flecked with brown. The dress is simply made with tucking. The loose coat is in the same color, but in tweed, with enormous revers of tawny cross fox continuing from collar to hem.

Outfit for Pam.

Pam's husband wrote to me and asked me to pick out a handsome outfit for Pam as he had won the case he came east to plead. So I earmarked this ensemble, since it is the sort of thing that she can wear in Hollywood throughout the year, except in the very hot weather. With it I'm sending a brown hat, trimmed with green, and a green felt hat that has a bowknot of cross fox as trimming.

I wrote to my father yesterday and told him that there are a couple of things that would be very nice for mother. They are models that have been copied and adapted, and I am pretty sure that Madame would let us have them below cost. One is a suit of very deep purple velvet, almost inky in tone, with a collar and hem border of black fox. The other is a handsome afternoon dress of black silk jersey. It is beautifully draped and has gold piping and a gold mesh belt. That's the sort of dress that mother would like when she presides at her club meetings.

Knit wear gets nicer each season. Here is a swell knit suit that I could use for wear now and under a coat later on. The jacket, of dusty blue, has a decorative inset of burgundy, the skirt being of that color. The insert forms pockets at the bustline. The neck turns back simply and the front closes with self-covered buttons. Under the blue jacket is worn a short-sleeved burgundy angora sweater.

Before setting a hot sauce away to cool, place bits of butter to melt over the surface to prevent a film forming on top of sauce.

Swell knit suit.

THEATERS

M-G-M will produce as a talkie one of the company's biggest silent films, "Scaramouche," the Rafael Sabatini novel and play was filmed in 1923 with Alice Terry, Ramon Novarro and Lewis Stone. . . . Coast reviewers say "Stablemates" with Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney is another "Champ" and a real tear-jerker. . . . Lew Ayers is making a surprising comeback, being scheduled for continuous work for sometime. After his roles in "Holiday" and "Rich Man, Poor Girl," he began the "Young Dr. Kildare" series, and his next two assignments are the lead opposite Maureen O'Sullivan in "Spring Dance," and with Joan Crawford and James Stewart in "Ice Follies." . . .

Farm Boy's Romance.

The story of a young Kansas farm boy who dreamed of going to sea and who found a land-lubber's romance when he came to New York City to secure work on an out-going boat is told in "Youth Takes a Fling," booked for the Madison Wednesday and Thursday. Joel McCrea and Andrea Leeds have the romantic leads, with Dorthea Kent and Fran Jenks in supporting roles.

New Movie Find.

John Garfield, star of the stage play "Golden Boy" and who makes his picture debut in "Four Daughters," is believed destined for unusual movie success. If he does "make the grade" it will not be because of good looks for he is the exact opposite of the accepted pattern for a movie hero. Garfield is a protege of Angelo Patri who rescued him from juvenile delinquency. The Lane sisters and Gale Page are the sisters of the Fannie Hurst story. At the Ohio.

A girl-and-boy romance blooms again after years of marriage and divorce in "I Met My Love Again," the Joan Bennett-Henry Fonda picture at the Majestic. The action swings between a little New England town and Paris. "The Road to Reno" has Randolph Scott, Hope Hampton and Glenda Farrell.

College Story.

Borrowing the name of a popular song and giving it a college background provides the theme of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," in which Mary Carlisle and Buster Crabbe are featured at the Park. A murder mystery is solved by "Mr. Wong, Detective," in the picture of that name and which is the second feature.

Home gardeners and owners of fruit trees and vineyards will do themselves a good turn by destroying all the dried-up, rotted fruits on or under the trees this fall. It is true that a shriveled-up plum, apple or peach looks harmless, but it may be the means of carrying such destructive diseases as brown and black rot.

If you place lemons in the oven before using them, heat them thoroughly and roll with the hand until they are soft, you will not only get twice as much juice as when they are cold, but there is a flavor which a cold lemon never possesses.

Wife Preservers

Gayly colored paper table napkins are a great help in the home summer and winter. They may be used for the children's luncheon instead of table cloths. Placed under plates and silver they are attractive and may be thrown away after the meal, saving laundry bills or work.
